Entire State Is Buried Beneath Heavy Snowfall

Western Pennsylvania Is Especially Hard Hit by Snow Storm

TRAFFIC HALTED IN MANY PLACES

Highways Dangerous From Ice And Snow—Workmen Are Busy

(International News Service)

King Winter, accompanied by his satellites of blustering snow flurries, lowering temperatures and whistling gales, moved in on Pennsylvania in dead earnest today as the tail end of a blizzard that wreaked havoc in the West swept eastward to and beyond the Alleghenies.

Western Pennsylvania was especially hard hit. Snow flurries, swept along like whirling dervishes by high winds, blinded motorists on the highways and made driving conditions extremely hazardous.

No Fatal Accidents

Motor vehicles skidded and slipped on the slippery streets of cities in the Pittsburgh district. No fatal traffic accidents, directly attributable to the snowfall, were reported.

Mild Hurricane

Southern Fayette county was visited Sunday by a mild hurricane which uprooted several trees and carried away several signboards. According to records available at Burgess Airport, nearby, the wind reached a velocity of 86 miles per hour at the peak of the storm.

PA NEW OBSERVES

That snowfall which New Castle awoke to find Sunday morning started plenty of folks on a hunt for their snow shovels. Some who had figured the winter over had stored them.

It didn't take the street car company long to get its "brusher" operating after the heavy snow yesterday morning. At night a force of men was kept busy keeping track switches open at different intersections.

The Boy Scouts of the city will soon be paid a visit by their former chief executive, J. Lee Calahan. He comes here later in the month for an inspection. He's now a regional director.

New Castle high school basketball team is entitled to more than ordinary credit for the showing that has been made so far in the W. P. I. A. I. tourney. Just two games before the regular season ended, graduation and eligibility lifted three of the stars out of the New Castle team. Despite this handicap, and with three comparatively unseasoned and green players on the floor, New Castle has nosed out victories in two battles so far in the eliminations at Pitt gym. Here's hoping for a continuation of the victorious march next Saturday night.

WEATHER IN FRANCE EXTREMELY COLD

(International News Service)
LONDON, Mar. 9.—Winter grips Europe today, with forecasts of more to come.

Germany reported biting cold with bad snowstorms raging in a number of sections. Australia was also in the grip of a belated winter. The Balkans, in addition to disastrous quakes, experienced cold and snow.

High tides and waves pounded the British shores, causing much property damage. Small shipping was driven into harbors for shelter and a few Atlantic liners were delayed over the week end.

Few Republicans Disagree On Dry Campaign In 1932

Small Militant Group Of Republicans Oppose Bone-Dry Campaign

LA GUARDIA'S PLAN BEING SCOFFED AT

President Hoover Will Run For Re-Election As Bone-Dry Candidate

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 9.—While it is generally taken for granted by politicians of both parties that President Hoover will be renominated next year, and that he will run for re-election as an outright dry, indications are multiplying that the Republicans are going to have to share some of the grief over the prohibition issue.

There is a small but militant minded Republican group who are not going to see the party line up solidly with the dries in 1932 without a struggle. Probably they will make little headway, but the are nevertheless determined to make a fight, and any fight is not without its embarrassing features.

Scoff At Proposal

For example, Rep. La Guardia (R) of New York, came out today with a demand for the Republicans to stage a meeting of their national committee and deal "courageously" with the issue as the Democrats did here last week. His proposal was greeted with a lot of Ha-Ha's by regular Republican leaders, and it will, of course, get nowhere. But his action nevertheless was indicative of a feeling that strongly pervades some sections of the party.

The Republicans of New York went bodily over into the wet camp in the 1930 election, adopting for the first time a wet platform and nominating an avowed opponent of prohibition for governor. New Jersey Republicans were already there. Illinois, Wisconsin and Rhode Island Republicans are predominantly opposed to prohibition, and there is a strongly anti-prohibition strain in the Republican organizations in Massachusetts, Connecticut and Pennsylvania.

Not all of the Republicans in these states are going to see President Hoover take the party into the prohibition camp without a protest.

You're the JUDGE

Mr. Crackin and Mr. Bunker owned adjacent summer shacks. For several summers now their families had taken up their abodes in their respective shacks early in May and were by now well acquainted. But one day Crackin suddenly filed suit against Bunker for trespass. At the trial it came out that Crackin was charging Bunker with entering upon his land and digging up a section of it without asking Crackin's permission. Bunker replied that Crackin had been accumulating a heap of garbage there, that the garbage had been causing noxious odors and gathering flies for weeks and he merely entered Crackin's yard to dig up enough land to cover the heap.

Friday, The 13th, Was Unlucky Day In This Household

Troubles Of Joe Bogac And Wife Are Aired In Court At Trial Today

Friday, the 13th, appears to have been an unlucky day in the home of Joe Bogac, according to testimony given before Judge Chambers this morning in a case in which he was charged with assault and battery on his wife, Mary Bogac. From the evidence it appeared that the couple had not been getting along well for some time, but still continued to occupy the same house.

On Friday, the 13th, Mrs. Bogac testified that her husband had come home intoxicated, and had emptied some of the contents of his stomach on the floor. He ordered her to clean it up, she said, and a quarrel was started during which she claimed that her husband had struck her and had attempted to wipe up the floor with her hair. Bogac, in his own defense, denied that he had struck his wife and also denied that he had tried to use her hair for a mop. He admitted that he occasionally took a glass of beer, but when it came to wine and whiskey, he had no inclination to imbibe.

On Friday, the 13th, he said that he had come home to see if his children had enough to eat. Since he and his wife had trouble, they had been living in the same house, but occupying separate rooms. He claimed that the trouble had started when his wife had asked him for $5 with which to buy food. He claimed that when his wife grabbed hold of a chair he had left. He claimed that he had not laid hands on her at all.

Alderman L. C. Mantz testified that when Mrs. Bogac had come to his office to make an information, she had a black eye and that one side of her face was very red. The case is still on trial.

pointment and his election was unanimous.

Third List
A third list of eligibles was furnished by Commissioner McFate. It contained the names of Montgomery, C. and Frank Nugent.

Reeves recommended C. C. Councilman Genkinger offered a second motion, in the roll call councilman voted unanimously against C. C.

Another list was requested but White warned that "there must be an appointment from the list before it goes back."

Councilman Reeves disagreed with the city solicitor as to the procedure and White said: "You can go ahead but they can take it into court."

Treser advised colleagues to "play it safe and be thorough with it." White advised that in order to be right he (Cage) would have to be on three complete lists and voted down three times.

A fourth list containing the names of Montgomery, C. and Sargent was then presented by McFate. C. C. was recommended and failed again of election.

The same names were on the fifth list and council went through the same procedure and C. C. was voted down, it having been the third time.

"Think It Fair"
Councilman Reeves asked for another list. Councilman Genkinger remarked: "I think this whole thing is a farce."

"I want a note on the records that this procedure is a farce," Solicitor White said. The note was made a part of the city records.

"You must take one man out of the three," instructed White.

Another list was brought in and had the names of Montgomery, Sargent and Ralph Eakin. Eakin was recommended by Reeves and voted down.

Two more lists with the same names were presented and Eakin was voted down twice more.

The next and last list contained the names of Montgomery, Sargent and Charles Mills of Boyles avenue. Reeves recommended Mills and he was named four to one for the berth. Councilman Treser voted against Mills.

"Does this wind it up?" asked Councilman Genkinger.

"I think it is very badly unwound," answered Treser.

Audino and McFarland have been serving as firemen for probably more than a year without having been appointed regularly.

Mills has been serving as a temporary fireman for some time and his appointment today was recommended by Reeves.

STAR LORE VENUS OR MARS—WHICH COMES NEARER?

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

F. B. Scranton, Pa.: I wonder if you know whether Venus or Mars is closer to the earth? Answer: It would be better to ask if Venus or Mars comes closer to the earth, for Venus, the earth and Mars are all constantly in motion journeying in their respective orbits around the sun. The mean distance of Venus from the sun is 67,170,000 miles, and never varies as much as a million miles. That means that Venus may approach within 26,000,000 miles of the earth. Mars is far out beyond the earth's orbit. Within the earth and Mars come nearest together, they are 34,600,000 miles apart.

A partial check-up today showed that twenty towns and villages in Southern Yugoslavia had been either badly damaged or demolished. A similar fate befell eight municipalities in Greece and six in Bulgaria.

Government relief measures were immediately set in motion in Yugoslavia, while King Alexander issued an unusual decree permitting all soldiers who had enlisted from towns in the quake area to return to their homes to aid in rehabilitating their families and friends. The king has established temporary headquarters in Nish, from where he is personally directing relief measures.

FOR "THE PEOPLE"

THE closing days of congress demonstrated how a handful of demagogues can hamstring congress and injure the great mass of taxpayers in the name of justice and the "people". If they are sincere, they are shortsighted, but either way the effect on the public is the same.

Extravagance and emergency relief made it necessary, if the federal treasury were to be able to meet all the obligations assumed by congress, that the legal borrowing capacity of the government be increased from $20,000,000,000 to $28,000,000,000.

Were the treasury authorized to issue bonds for the additional amount free of surtaxes, it would find a readier market at a lower rate of interest. When the measure with a surtax exemption clause reached the floor of the senate, a few members who make a great show of being foes of the moneyed interests objected in the name of the downtrodden masses.

The government had to have the money, passage of the resolution was necessary, insistence on the exemption clause might deadlock congress and delay the adjournment of congress, so the measure was adopted without exemption. What is the net result?

The government will collect some surtaxes from the new bonds, but it will have to pay higher interest rates on them than it would upon tax-exempt bonds and experience has shown that the interest savings on tax-exempt bonds is considerably more than the government can collect by taxing the bonds.

So the champions of the people have penalized the very classes they were careful to have think they were helping.

URBAN-RURAL CONFLICT

The internal war that rumbles along from year to year in the United States is a very old war. It is as old as the oldest of the republic's frontiers and older than congress, where it usually manifests itself.

It is, in fact, older than the government. Its first skirmishes were fought during the shaping of the constitution, when the plantations of the South clashed with the shipping interests and jealousies then, just as there are today. The North of that far away era watched the South with misgivings. The South watched the North with mistrust.

The country grew. The "old frontier" east of the mountains gave way to other and newer frontiers. Andrew Jackson raised the standard of political revolt against the moneyed and more conservative East. These battle lines, drawn in the struggle of nearly a century ago, can still be traced upon the political map of the United States.

The conflict takes various forms but its fundamentals remain much the same. It is a struggle, in one way or another, between the city and the country; between industrialism and agriculture.

It is this struggle that so long delayed reapportionment in congress and is delaying reapportionment of representation in legislatures of states where the balance of population has swung over to the cities. It is constantly dividing urban and rural members of congress and state legislatures against each other on questions of policy and public expenditure.

When will peace be declared? When the nation becomes 100 per cent urban and industrial or 100 per cent rural and agricultural.

LIVING AT HOME

An investigator returning from a survey of conditions in Arkansas reports that some of the sections visited there was not a sign of a garden ever having existed on the places of some of those Red Cross feedings. Which is another way of saying that these particular drouth sufferers were one-croppers.

If a complete check up of those who are being fed in the rural districts of Arkansas, Texas and Oklahoma could be made, it probably would be found that most of them have been neglecting to produce much of their own living on their places. They have remained addicted to the staple crop of cotton, growing perhaps a few other field crops on a small scale, but neglecting growing of vegetables, production of their meat requirements, and giving little or no attention to poultry.

It is not uncommon for a tenant farmer in the South not to have a cow, a hog, or a chicken on the place, and to have no vegetable garden. Those who advocate the cow, the sow and the hen on the farm are sometimes ridiculed, but it stands to reason that the farmer who produces a large share of what he and his family eat is better prepared to meet the vicissitudes that come to the markets for the staple field crops, than is the farmer who depends for his living on what he can get for a few staple crops.—The Houston Post-Dispatch.

A PROBLEM FOR EINSTEIN

One of those items that make municipal government a fascinating study is the now popular practice in cities and towns of forbidding parking on the streets during the hours when there is the least traffic while permitting limited parking during the rush hours of the day. The peak load of traffic is reached in the afternoon, and it dwindles steadily until it reaches its lowest ebb between midnight and dawn. But it is usually between midnight and dawn that all parking is prohibited.

It almost seems that the philosophy back of such regulations is that as long as the streets are needed for traffic, it is all right to use them for parking; but as soon as they are not needed for traffic, it becomes illegal to use them for parking.

Still, the public is constantly assured that the primary object in view in constructing the streets was to make the movement of traffic possible, and that all other uses must be subordinated to this. Perhaps Professor Einstein could reconcile this apparent contradiction, but lesser brains cannot be expected to cope with it.

WHEN TO STOP TALKING

Brevity is the soul not only of wit but of effective business communication. Many excellent business propositions have been turned down because of too great prolixity in writing or in conversation. A busy business man—and the phrase is not pleonastic—is frequently turned away by talk from a proposal that might have appealed to him if briefly and tersely presented.

The psychology of the business man's unfavorable reaction to too many words by tongue or pen is easy to understand. In the beginning of submission of a proposition his mind is presumably open. The problem of the proponent is to interest him. When interest has been aroused and the mind has become cautiously receptive as a result of the negotiation enters a critical stage, one in which the person to whom proposals are being submitted is easily "scared" off by loose statements. It is a wise man who knows when to stop talking.

The Hints and Dints Man, will, as has been his custom for many years, give Five Dollars to Every Baby born on his birthday, Thursday, March 12, 1931. Proof of birth must be presented in The News office on or before March 25th, 1931. Ten Dollars for twins and even more in proportion for more. This is only for babies born in Lawrence county. Every year the Hints and Dints Man gets letters asking for the $5 from people who were born on March 12 years ago, one writing at one time who was nearly a hundred years old. This is only for the little folks seeing the light of day for the first time next Thursday, March 12.

Bill went. On his return, he explained that he could have had the job but the work was too hard for him to do.

"But," protested the father angrily, "you're a strong, fit man. If the man who died could do it, surely you could."

"It wasn't a man that died," replied the energetic Bill, "it was a horse."

All Of Us

I Have No Fear
Pilot Understands Currents
He Knows Where He's Going

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Every day I cross San Francisco bay. In storm and calm, in sunshine and fog and darkness, morning and afternoon, I walk upon a boat and take my seat and wait while the ferry leaves its slip and drives across the waves and comes smoothly into another slip on the other side.

I have no fear, nothing has ever happened to any ferry on which I have ridden. I have such faith in that man up there in the pilot house, that quiet, gray headed fellow, that I rarely even think of him.

He will take us across I know. He knows channels and shoals and islands and markings along the shores. And he knows those forces too, that are quite unknown to me. He understands that beneath these quiet surfaces of the bay, there are tides and currents that change during the day and during the year and are never quite the same. And even this great boat on which we ride, must yield to those strong forces.

I have observed that he does not take a straight course from pier to pier. He takes his ferry on a line that is a wide curve from shore to shore from its brave start to its quiet ending. Sometimes he seems so far off his course that it does not seem likely he ever will come in to the slip.

But he does, he has always done so.

He has fought the current in the early part of his voyage and at the end he lets it swing him easily and smoothly to the small port where his passengers wish to go. He knows those rivers that flow within the quieter waters and he knows when to oppose them and when to use them.

And as it is with him, so might it be with us. We have forces within us that no one sees, of which we are aware—strong currents that could sweep us far from our course if we would let them take control, passions and powers, deep yearnings and fateful impulses. We can use them, if we know how to do it. We can let them destroy us, too.

That captain on the ferry has less than 20 minutes for his short trip, but every moment is important for his purpose. We have years—and years for our adventure and we do not know which of our moments are little and which are tremendous with meaning. He knows where he is going but often we do not know our goal.

But if we do not know exactly where we are going, surely we should try to know what's beneath the surface of our lives—and should aim to be as steady in our purpose as that pilot of our ferry.

WHAT ABOUT A COMPASS?

The task of rescuing inexperienced travelers in some of the densely forested areas of the western coast of the United States is not without its monetary hardship, as well as the physical privations undergone by the rescuers.

In the national forests of Oregon and Washington, for example, there were no less than fifty-seven men, women, and children lost last summer.

To locate these wandering "babes in the woods" the forest rangers spent a total of ninety-seven days and the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture spent more than $700.

Among the lost tribe were several children, an old lady, a policeman and a good many hunters.

Decision On Dry Amendment Is According To Forecasts

Public Recognizes That Federal Judge Clark's Ruling, Rejected By Supreme Court, Was Based On Technicality, Though Offering Hint For Future

Decision by the United States Supreme Court that the Prohibition Amendment was properly adopted by the States is declared by a country to have been expected, and it is recognized that Federal Judge William T. Clark of New Jersey was dealing in technicalities which could not be effective in nullifying a part of the Constitution. The contention of the lower court that the convention method of ratification has merit, however, is accepted by a part of the public as reasonable and a proper subject for future consideration.

"It was doubtless due only to the novelty of the plea," says the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, "that the principles of 'political science,' the 'political thought of the times' and a 'scientific approach to the problem of Government' required the convention method of ratification, even though the Constitution permitted otherwise, that the decision was of such length. The case was so simple that it required only a very brief rejection without analysis. Yet it is as well that the court, in the person of its youngest member, presented the finding in a reasoning that made specifically plain the absurdity of the claim that Congress erred in its prescription of the legislative method of ratification."

"The proposition that a part of the Constitution might be unconstitutional was so spectacular that few among the radical wets can have had very high hopes for the fate of the decision, once it reached the Supreme Court," thinks the ST. PAUL PIONEER PRESS, while the KANSAS CITY STAR remarks that "the Supreme Court unanimously has reversed him, by implication repudiating his effort to rewrite an article of the Constitution in conformity with his personal views on political science." The CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER holds that "the Clark decision and its reversal was not even a skirmish" and the INDIANAPOLIS STAR feels that the lower court decision "struck even the most ardent opponents of prohibition who were grasping at straws as offering little chance for reversal of the dry policy of the country."

"What may be surprising is that any person actually could believe that the 18th Amendment ever will be upset by a legal technicality," avers the LITTLE ROCK ARKANSAS DEMOCRAT. The LEXINGTON LEADER states: "As a matter of fact, the Supreme Court, in 1920, had already decided that the amendment was legally adopted and was in every sense a proper exercise of power on the part of congress and of the people through their legislatures. No one who was not influenced by prejudice expected the court to reverse itself." The WORCESTER TELEGRAM hopes that "this decision will end the many attempts to convince people that the 18th Amendment is unconstitutional," that such attempts have merely brought confusion and have not in any way helped to solve the vexing liquor problem."

"Without examining the merits of Judge Clark's decision," states the MILWAUKEE SENTINEL, "it may be pointed out that the Supreme Court's decision is in accordance with the recent tendency of that august body, which grows more pronounced as the years go by, to be influenced strongly by public policy rather than to cleave to the letter of the law. And even the great body of citizens which abominates the Eighteenth amendment and all the abuses it has nurtured must concede that this tendency in the Supreme Court is good; that it encourages that progressiveness of law without which, as the great Roman jurist, Ulpian, pointed out 1,700 years ago, Justice cannot outlast the generation that installs her."

"There was vastly more to it," advises the PITTSBURGH POST-GAZETTE, "than a mere academic difference of opinion. Numerous commentators pointed out that if Judge Clark had been upheld there would be the anomaly that the Constitution itself might be disclosed as unconstitutional. If Amendment X should be found to nullify Amendment V, then every other amendment might be capable of knocking out another. There would be confusion worse confounded. There might be some comfort in finding that we did not have a United States Senate, through its having been elected under an invalid constitution, but on the same grounds we also would not have a President or any other public officer. The Clark ruling might have made hash of the whole constitutional structure."

"The doctrine upon which Judge Clark's decision was based was too finely spun to have any weight," declares the CHARLESTON (S. C.) EXENING POST, with the conclusion that "the nation is not to be rid of its folly by so simple device as an adverse ruling by the courts against the method of adoption, nor should it be." The BIRMINGHAM NEWS offers the analysis of the matter: "In holding the eighteenth amendment invalid because it was ratified by state legislatures instead of by the people assembled in convention, he has done what no other judge had dared to do before him, and what all judges concerned in the matter have refused to do since. He has interpreted a section of the constitution in the light of an original theory of political science rather than according to judicial tradition. He has ignored the plain meaning of the words of Article V, the Supreme Court's approval of that meaning, and the practical

Why be so diligent in seeking to know the weakness of those about you?

None are without faults.

Even the worst of the human family have their good points.

In speaking of the absent, then, why allude first to his mistakes?

Is it that you take pleasure in muck-raking?

Presenting the least attractive points you can when a person is mentioned must have created for certain persons in the past reputations that were not deserved.

And it did not add to your personal prestige to back bite, did it?

Women are more apt to be thus uncharitable than men.

Men are not as prone to criticize their own sex as women are.

Few persons have a wide enough margin of sinless past to permit the attitude of deprecation that some of them assume.

Perhaps your digressions have not resulted as seriously as the moral wanderings of some you know.

But your own thoughts have been crooked enough at times to preclude the "holier than thou" attitude which slanders take when repeating defamations.

Berlin Throgs Acclaim Chaplin

Charlie Chaplin Greeted By Thousands In Germany
Today

POLICE FORCED TO PROTECT STAR

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Mar. 9.—Police reserves were compelled to go into action today to protect Charlie Chaplin, screen idol, from physical violence at the hands of a tremendous mob of fans and curiosity seekers who had gathered at the railway station to greet him on his arrival here.

Fully 2,000 fans were jammed in to the railway station and other thousands were packed all around all entrances, all hoping to catch a glimpse of the screen actor. Chaplin's appearance in the station was a signal for a general forward rush and for a time the actor was in danger of being crushed by the mob.

Three husky Berlin policemen escorted Chaplin to their shoulders and, following in the wake of other police who fought clear a passage for them, carried Chaplin to a waiting automobile.

"And I came to Europe for a vacation!" Chaplin said wistfully when he alighted from the train and saw the size of the crowd waiting to greet him. "Believe me, this continuous round of festivities is more strenuous than the hardest kind of studio work."

Chaplin's journey from the railway station to his hotel was a near riot all the way. Scores of police preceded and flanked his automobile, which was forced to move at snail's pace to avert running over some of the thousands who packed the entire route. Police reserves succeeded in holding the lines fairly open until the car had passed, after which the lines broke and thousands ran in the street after the car, cheering wildly.

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Practice Of Self Denial Is Good For All Of Us

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.
Head Division Parental Education,
Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

I have just returned from a walk. A few of us still have legs. In the year 2930 legitis may be just as prevalent as appendicitis. I passed by a grocery store on whose window was "Suggestions for Lent." And here I go.

In my particular training I never was exposed to the self-denying practices of Lent. Neither was our children. Neither have not been. But I think we have missed something. Those who faithfully deny themselves some cherished food or pleasure during this period are exercising will power. Such self-discipline is good for character. The one great thing in all leading religions is self-sacrifice.

No matter what particular religion to which anyone belongs, we are duty bound, if we are large of soul and have ideals, to admire him who lives up to his convictions and is loyal to the cause he has espoused; and the more self-sacrifice he makes in doing so, the greater, as a rule, should be our admiration.

Our religion sometimes makes us mean and narrow, makes us feel sometimes that we are superior to our fellows of different faiths. But when it does it is a pretty poor religion with a shade of immorality in it. Furthermore, it is hard to think of a Heavenly Father loving us the more as we love anyone else, or any group of fellow men. It does not matter so much about us as about our children. They have longer to live, to be happy or unhappy, longer to make others happy or unhappy.

I believe that we who do not make some self-denials during Lent, or do not go without meat on Fridays, or abstain from pork at any time, or at any price, miss something in our spiritual growth and personality if we do not learn to respect and even to admire those who out of loyalty to their faiths, exercise self-sacrifices of this sort.

What must our children miss if they learn from us to belittle or to speak slightly of others who for conscience sake pursue such religious practices. Surely it were easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for us and our children to enter the kingdom of heaven or abide in the kingdom of love, if we deny and fail to learn some self-discipline to admire those who exercise it faithfully.

Most of us do not give up enough. Surely our children don't. They too often have their wishes gratified. It is hard for us to say "No," even when we are sure we ought. We fool ourselves that we are generous when, as a rule, we never were more selfish. We dread to see our children disappointed. We loathe to see them even look displeased. We gratify our own appetites by giving them too much. If we had more will power, had more character, we would more often prove self-sacrificing by denying more to them that we know they should not have.

No matter what our religious training may have been, no matter what the name of our sect may be, Lent ought to have a wholesome meaning for us.

Blessed is the child who has parents with convictions and with character enough to be loyal to them.

INCOME TAX FACTS

No. 31
While it is important that the taxpayer render on or before the due date—March 16, 1931, if filed on the calendar-year basis—as full and complete a return as possible, a request for a reasonable extension of time may be granted. Application for an extension should be addressed to the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer files his return, together with a full recital for the causes of the delay. The requests must be made before the return is due. Except in the case of taxpayers who are abroad, no extension may be made for a period of more than six months.

An extension of time for filing a return does not extend the time for paying the tax, or any installment thereof, unless so specified in the extension. However, an extension of time in which to pay the tax or installment may be granted by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue for a period not to exceed six months from the prescribed date. Application for such extension should be made through the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the return is filed. The taxpayer should state under oath the specific reasons for desiring the extension, and clearly indicate what hardship, if any, would result if the extension were not granted. The Commissioner will not consider an application for an extension unless received on or before the due date of the tax, or installment thereof, and as condition may require the taxpayer to furnish a bond not exceeding twice the amount of the tax or installment.

NOTES OF TROOP "F" 103RD CAVALRY OF NEW CASTLE

Word was received last night by Capt. Bintrim of the death of his grandmother Mrs. Eliza Hoelzer, aged 89 years of Evans City.

"Blackie" one of the horses the officers had endeavored to have condemned, was executed at the stable grounds, the other day by Veterinary Porter, after the animal got worse. The ailment, it is reported, was "old age," the horse being said to have been 30 years old.

Many important topics were discussed at the sergeant's meeting held Sunday afternoon. One of the important decisions was the plan to change the office of the outfit in the armory. The present rear office used for meetings, etc., will hereafter become the troop business office, while the present office place will be changed to the troop "living" room.

Work on repainting and remodeling the entire armory, including the hall and rooms, will be started Tuesday, the commander announced today. Five troopers will obtain work during the period. The five rooms that adjoin the drill hall will be papered.

Peter's Adventures

READY TO BEGIN OVER AGAIN
"Nonsense! Ridiculous! Absurd!" Daddy Longlegs and Granther Greybeard shrieked objections at Peter. Then Daddy Longlegs turned upon Granther Greybeard.
"There, you old simpleton. I hope you're satisfied! You have been boasting that you were as good as I am. Now you'll think it is true!"
"It is!" retorted Granther.
"Then you believe the word of a perfect stranger?" shrieked Daddy Longlegs. "What does he know about us?"
"Nothing!" Granther snickered. "Nothing, or he would have seen at once that I am better than you are."
"You are not ahead of me in anything but conceit!" Daddy Longlegs was rapidly losing all control of his temper. "Really, Granther, all my life I have been known as a good-natured fellow, but I am liable to lose my reputation this morning. I could bite your head off and enjoy it! For once I feel that is a drawback to being perfectly harmless."
Peter could have laughed heartily at the two old gentlemen, all ready to go into a clinch again, but he felt that having started another scrap it was up to him to stop it.
"Here, you two, take it easy. Don't get all hot and bothered until you hear what I have to tell you. I will make a bet with either or with both of you that I can prove neither of you travel faster nor farther than the other. Do you mind if I ask a few questions?"
"I can't see what either of us do is any of your business, stranger," said Daddy Longlegs. "However, since you insist upon interfering, ask your questions, for all of me."
Next: "Peter Proves His Point."

Bo Broadway

By Central Press.
NEW YORK, Mar. 9.—George Peck, the Sage of Gramercy packed his bag one day about a year ago and hid him to Havana. He had engaged in debate with The Fairnest of Her Sex, lost the argument and gone to Cuba to rejuvenate his morale.
A week after reaching Havana he slipped one evening, crossing the Plaza, fell heavily to the soil of Cuba and sprained his gumbrel joint.
Next day he cabled The Fairnest of Her Sex:
"Am healing slowly as possible." And received the following reply: "Don't come home. All is forgiven."

BIRTH OF A "ROIT."
Prof. Teddy Metz, author of "A Hot Time In The Old Town Tonight," stopped in at the Astor the other night where The Newspaper Clubs' Old Timers' Night was under way.
"I wrote a 'Hot Time' fifty years ago," said Metz, who is now eighty-six and doesn't look it.
"They were having a little affair in a place called 'Old Town,' outside New Orleans. I wrote the song for that occasion. It was originally entitled 'There'll Be a Hot Time in Old Town Tonight.'"
"It struck the popular fancy. The word 'roit' was inserted before 'Old Town' and after awhile the tune became associated all over the country with illicit gaiety. It achieved some degree of dignity, however, when Teddy Roosevelt's Rough Riders adopted it. Since then—well, you know the rest."

"Nevertheless, I'm ashamed of having written it. I can't understand, looking back, how I ever came to do it. I am convinced that jazz will soon displace it and that good music will come into its own."

Ignatz used to have a job with a packing company. His work was leading sheep to slaughter. Somewhere along the road he lost a horn; the fugacious years have not dealt kindly with his hide and his eyes are divergent—that is, one of them looks forward toward next Spring, while

Aged Civil War Veteran Slain

Bloodhounds Follow Trail To Home Of Son-In-Law

ZANESVILLE, O., Mar. 9.—Henry Gay, 90-year-old Civil War veteran and recluse, was found beaten to death at his home in Cannellville, 12 miles southwest of here, Sunday afternoon. Authorities are investigating the case and are holding Samuel Barker, 53, a son-in-law of the victim, as a suspect. Robbery is believed to be the motive for the murder as Gay drew his pension check March 4. Corner Harry Glaser pronounced a murder verdict, Gay was found on the floor of his home with both hands and legs tied with leather thongs and the side of his head beaten in with a blunt instrument. Bloodhounds, from kennels owned by Harry Pangle, of Roseville, this county, made a direct run to the Barker home from the Gay home.

DRIVER IS KILLED IN TRUCK CRASH

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Mar. 9.—Elmer Guy, of Wickliffe, was killed and his 16-year-old son, Charles Guy, was fatally injured when two heavily-loaded trucks collided head on. One truck was driven by Guy, who was accompanied by his son, and the other by Leroy Melott. Melott told the deputies that he was driving his two-ton truck loaded with 29 barrels of cement eastward at about 25 miles an hour when Guy's truck loaded with milk, turned out of the opposite line of traffic and crashed into his machine.

With the whole Mazda Lane breaking its neck to look its swankiest, meet Dorothy Stickney who is happiest when she looks dowdy on the stage.

Miss Stickney's career has been what is called "a procession of tackiness in clothes," in which she has given magnificent performances.

In the play "Chicago" she was a scrubwoman.

In "Front Page," an ill-clad denizen of the gutter.

Today, in George Kelly's latest success, "Philip Goes Forth," she plays the part of a hopeless little spinster who writes poetry that doesn't sell. Her costume calls for remnants of the attic.

So gifted is Miss Stickney that you leave the theatre forgetting the smartly dressed women in the cast and remembering only the little girl in the shabby frock and frowsy hat.

CHINAMAN'S CHANCE.
New York's Chinese work hard, receive little pay for their labor and don't have much leisure. When they do fare forth in quest of amusement they drift down to Chinatown and spend their time gambling.

They bet on everything under the sun.

There have been games in Chinatown, where more than $20,000 was wagered on a cockroach race. And, of course, they all play the Chinese lottery which is operated in New Jersey.

Raiding games down there, the police have encountered a room full of Chinks all betting on the number of seeds in an orange.

Justice Holmes Back On Bench In Washington

His 90th Birthday Fittingly
Observed Holmes Goes
To Bench Today

GIVEN TRIBUTE AS
GREATEST JURIST

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 9.—With his 90th birthday past and the observance in which he reluctantly took part ended, Associate Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of the supreme court went back to work today.

Having heard himself described as one of the great jurists of all time in a radio observance of his anniversary last night, the venerable jurist had made it clear that he will go on as long as he can.

"To live is to function—that is all there is to life," said the justice, whose life has spanned nearly three fifths of the nation's constitutional history.

Receives Praise

Sitting within the somber walls of his old brick home here, Justice Holmes heard Chief Justice Hughes, Dean Charles E. Clark of the Yale law school and President Charles A. Boston of the American Bar Association, praise his contribution to American law.

Justice Holmes responded with characteristic brevity.

"In this symposium my part is only to sit in silence," he said, adding that to express one's feeling as the end nears is too intimate a task for him.

Justice Holmes has privately repelled all suggestions of resignation from the supreme court while he is in health to continue to hold up his share of the court's work. He indicated that he has no thought of resigning.

He who is not just is severe, he who is not wise is sad—Voltaire. Knowledge is the foundation and source of good writing—Horse.

Progressives To Map Out Program

National Conference Planned For Washington
This Week

SENATOR NORRIS IS CHAIRMAN

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 9.—The National Conference of Progressives, meeting here this week, will draft a definite program of tariff, farm relief, public utility control and unemployment relief legislation for submission to the next congress.

Norris said all legislative and political issues, possibly including prohibition, would be discussed. He preferred to ignore the prohibition issue, which has just shattered a harmony gathering of Democrats, but declared it would not be barred from the agenda of the conference if some of the Progressives wished to discuss it.

"I wouldn't be surprised if somebody brought up the subject of prohibition," said Norris. "I don't care if they do although I don't think it is a subject to be acted upon by the conference."

Norris said he preferred to limit the conference program to farm relief, tariff revision, control of public utilities, and an educational campaign to restore a "government of the people," by the people and for the people.

The conference chairman gave International News Service his views about each of these issues.

ENTIRE STATE IS BURIED BENEATH HEAVY SNOWFALL

caused some property damage at Halifax, New Cumberland and near Harrisburg.

At Halifax, 25 telephone poles were blown down, several trees were uprooted and a house and a barn were unroofed. At New Cumberland wind toppled two chimneys and tore the tin roof from a dwelling. Four plate glass windows were blown out of an automobile showroom in Harrisburg.

Six Feet Deep.

Deep, mid-winter snows ranging in places from three to six feet deep closed parts of highways in Wayne and Susquehanna counties, the state highway reported, and throughout the rest of central Pennsylvania highways were snow and ice-coated.

A force of 1,000 men and 350 trucks, tractors and snow plows patrolled the roads to overcome motor handicaps.

Clearing skies and colder temperatures prevailed over the eastern section of the state and in the adjoining sections of New Jersey and Delaware this morning. This region escaped the blizzard which swirled over the western and northern ends of the state, but a heavy storm bringing a rainfall of more than an inch in 24 hours and accompanied by gales with a velocity of 40 miles an hour hampered traffic during the week-end. Atlantic City reported a 54-mile an hour wind.

The storm subsided, however, late Sunday with the drop in temperatures and not much damage was reported in its wake beyond the tie-up of shipping on the Delaware for several hours Sunday.

Mid-West Buried.

CHICAGO, Mar. 9.—Choked by mountainous snow drifts that blocked highways, paralyzed communications and isolated entire communities, Chicago and the upper Mississippi valley states struggled today to free themselves from the grip of the two-day March blizzard that took a toll of at least 15 lives.

The blizzard's force here in the middle west as the storm center swung eastward over the Great Lakes region.

Twelve lives were lost in Chicago's metropolitan area as the city battled drifts seven to 20 feet high and sub-freezing temperatures. Three persons lost their lives in Wisconsin.

The estimated cost of the storm to Chicago alone was $1,250,000.

Its decks coated with heavy layers of ice and its crew of four men nearly exhausted from their two-day battle with the blizzard on Lake Michigan, the missing fishing tug Palmer made port safely here early today.

All hope for the 50-foot tug and its occupants had been abandoned yesterday when coast guardsmen were driven back by the strong gale and high waves.

Millions of Dollars Damage.

NEW YORK, Mar. 9.—Damage to property amounting to millions was used by Sunday's wind and rain storm along the Atlantic seaboard. It was estimated today. Damage in New York City was placed at $1,000,000.

In New York seven persons were dead, victims in automobile accidents caused by wind and gale.

Along the New Jersey and Long Island coast lines, sea walls were torn away and cottages wrecked. Many homes were inundated and trees and telegraph poles snapped to the ground.

Seventy-five families were virtually marooned in their homes here when heavy rains caused sewers to back up, flooding the streets. In Brooklyn waters of New York harbor swept an area of almost a mile, flooding cellars and homes.

Violent winds ripped off a section of the roof of a church in the Bronx just as 200 children were filing out from mass. None was injured.

FEW REPUBLICANS DISAGREE ON DRY CAMPAIGN IN 1932

$25,000 to carry on its work. The bill will probably be introduced by Rep. Turner, Delaware. If the measure moves forward, it is expected the senate committee will make a similar request. Thus far, both committees have been working without any funds provided and it seemed probable none would be made available for the senate probers, who are working without the sympathy of the administration.

Earlier in the session, Turner offered a resolution pledging the aid of the house to the senate body in its probe and providing for an appropriation for the work, but administration forces in the lower chamber voted it down.

Rep. D. Glenn Moore, Washington, chairman of the house investigating committee, is understood to be anxious for passage of the bill providing an appropriation for the probe and in view of that fact, it seemed likely the senate would receive a concession in the way of funds or retaliating by "pickling" the house measure.

Ask Extended Time.

The senate body tonight will ask for an extension of time in which to complete its work. Under the original senate resolution creating the committee it was to report March 10, but hearings have been covering so much ground an extra month will be requested.

The house probers, Chairman Moore estimated, will hold hearings for about three weeks and utilize another compiling their report.

Although 21 bills are ready for final passage in both houses tonight, none of them are very "heavy". The scheduled major bills of the session have not yet been introduced, and the more important of those already presented are still buried deep in committee.

House measures ready for final action tonight carry deficiency appropriations for the eastern state penitentiary, Hazleton state hospital, the department of Forests and waters and an appropriation for new buildings at State College.

Bills Ready For Vote.

Other lower chamber bills ready for passage include the Fitzgerald bill naming city treasurers of third class cities collectors of city and school taxes in city territorial limits; the Wall bill validating bonds issued or authorized for issue in agreement with provisions of the act regulating increasing indebtedness of municipalities; and the Storer joint resolution amending the constitution to permit authorization of a $50,000,000 bond issue for veterans' and bonuses.

Bills on the senate calendar ready for passage include the Woodard measure for a constitutional amendment providing for consolidation of city and county offices in Philadelphia; the Prince bill authorizing boroughs to appropriate money to certain hospitals; Senator Mansfield's measure requiring boards of revision to give notice of increases in valuation of property and of appeal days; the Harvey bill prohibiting carrying of loaded firearms in automobiles; and the Coyne bill for increasing maximum salaries of department heads in second class cities.

The senate has ready for passage also two house bills, one authorizing cities of the first class to negotiate emergency loans during the present calendar year and another making unlawful the counterfeiting of transportation tokens or tickets.

Mt. Gretna Camp Will Still Be Used By "F" This Year

Although there is discussion of the possible abandonment of Mt. Gretna as a training camp for the Pennsylvania National Guard in favor of a new camp at Indian Gap, near Lebanon and Dauphin counties, Captain Harvey G. Blintrin, commander of Troop F of this city, said today the Mt. Gretna grounds will still be used by the local outfit this year, even if a change is made.

The commander said the Mt. Gretna camping ground will have to be used by the local outfit because a new camp cannot be prepared in time for the camping season, August 8 to August 22.

A press report from Harrisburg announces that the state military reservation committee will hold a meeting soon to decide the camp site because the present Mt. Gretna camp is too small for training all units of the state guard.

Senate Probers Plan To Resume P. S. C. Inquiry

Two Prominent Men Will Be Called Before Senate Investigators

HOUSE COMMITTEE RESUMES WEDNESDAY

By WILLIAM B. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Mar. 9.—With at least two prominent witnesses scheduled to appear, the Senate Committee investigating the Public Utilities of the State and the Public Service Commission late today will begin the fifth week of its activities.

The House Committee, conducting an independent probe of Utilities, will not resume its settings until Wednesday afternoon.

Will Question Farr
The Senate probers today hope to learn just what happened to some of the huge sums of money which have featured Philadelphia Rapid Transit bookkeeping method. It had been scheduled also to give John R. Farr, Scranton Registration Commissioner and Real Estate man an opportunity to substantiate some of his campaign speeches of last fall and tell where he received information on which they were based, but Farr's appearance was postponed until Wednesday.

Farr had been scheduled to appear before the Senate Committee and give it the name of a Scranton banker said to have told him the Public Service Commission had reached a decision in the Scranton-Springbrook Water Company rate case last October.

The Commission did not announce its decision until several weeks later, and the Committee was anxious to learn the source of Farr's information. Though threatened with contempt, Farr refused to name the banker but finally agreed to talk with him and attempt to get permission to divulge his name.

Greenfield To Appear
In a long distance telephone conversation with Senator Earnest, chairman of the probe body, Farr reported the banker was out of town and could not be reached and Earnest told the Scranton registration official to report to the Committee Wednesday.

Slated to be questioned today was Albert M. Greenfield, Philadelphia banker and real estate operator, as to whether he made a million dollar profit in the sale of the Quaker City Cab company to Mitten management and just what agreements, written or verbal, made that transaction possible.

Testimony already before the Committee is to the effect that the first contract stipulated a price of $1,600,000 only if and when the Public Service Commission approved the transfer. Later, it was testified, another bill of sale was drawn without the proviso covering commission approval, so that Greenfield could be paid regardless of Commission action. The Commission did not approve the sale, but Mitten management took over operation of the cabs.

The Committee had asked for Greenfield's appearance last week but granted a stay because of his connection with the Banker's Trust company, of Philadelphia, which was closed by the State Department of Banking and which is now being prepared for reopening.

Joyce Is Recalled
Coleman Joyce, vice president of, and counsel for, Mitten Management is slated to reappear before the Senate probers and explain further how much he received in fees and salaries since his connection with the company.

In his initial appearance, Joyce questioned A. P. R. T. valuation report which showed he had received $226,000 in 1924. Joyce said he could recall received but $160,000 during that year and of that amount $150,000 was a fee for special work covering a five year period.

Later, Joyce wrote the Committee stating his previous statement was incorrect and that the first total was right although a part of the fee had been paid to W. A. Magee, of Pittsburgh, for legal assistance. Joyce also said the P. R. T. had paid his income taxes on the fee.

The Committee then directed Joyce to return and bring his bank book to show his deposits for 1924.

Farmers And Florists Warned About Claims Of Unscrupulous Agents

HARRISBURG, Mar. 9.—The attention of farmers and plant growers throughout the Commonwealth is called by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture to the activity of a certain lot of unscrupulous agents for the sale of insecticides.

"These agents are making claims which are wholly without foundation," the department states. "The story told is pretty much the same in all localities. Regardless of the crop being produced by the grower, and the insects and plant diseases to be controlled, approximately by the same recommendations are made, namely, that if one fallon of a certain mixture which the representative has for sale is added to one hundred gallons of water and sprayed or sprinkled over the surface of one acre of the soil to be put to the crop or trees, all future operations intended toward the control of insects, pests or plant diseases can safely be dispensed with for a given reason. There is no such remedy known, and anyone who stops to think for a moment will see the ridiculousness of such a statement, and no claims of such unscrupulous persons should induce a grower to be taken in by such unneeded recommendations."

"The nation and the state would indeed welcome such an effective spray material if it could be conclusively and officially demonstrated to meet fully the claims these agents make."

"If approached by agents making such claims, get in touch with your county agricultural agent or with anyone in whom you have confidence and whom you know to have a thorough knowledge of the control of plant pests. The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture will welcome any information relative to the operations of these unscrupulous persons."

LOOKING BACK
IN NEW CASTLE
A hotel now and way back in the beginning of New Castle had the same general purpose, but of course the entertainment of the public, particularly the traveling, has changed in many ways.

The first store in New Castle was opened by John Townsend, Jr., in a double log cabin, corner of North and Shenango streets, in the year 1800. He also conducted a tavern in the building at the same time. This was in reality the beginning of what may be termed today a hotel.

The second hotel or Tavern was opened in a hewed-log building erected in 1806, a little north of Washington street on the northwest angle of the Diamond and was called the New Tavern. It was nearer the modern idea of a hotel than the first.

In 1813, there were three hotels or taverns. In 1831 the number had grown to four. By this time they had become more and more like the modern hotels but prices were very reasonable.

And so on until the present day, when we have The Castleton, The Leslie and the Fountain Inn as well as others, catering to the traveling public and the home folk along modern lines, which mean many added bits of service, which were of course unknown in the earlier days.

Next—The hard times of 1855 and the depression of the past year.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

* That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative safe and pleasant.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.

SAYS I HAVE NEVER USED ANY THING SO GOOD AS WORLD'S TONIC

Suffered from Catarrh of the Head and Stomach for Many Years

WAS BADLY RUN DOWN AND EXTREMELY NERVOUS. NOW FEELS FINE.

"I was all run down and badly in need of something to relieve my condition, so I came to Pennsylvania to spend the winter with the hopes that my general health would improve. I had catarrh of the head and stomach, and accompanied by nervous indigestion, and I have found World's Tonic to be just the thing I need. I tried so many medicines that I was a 'doubting Thomas,' but this World's Tonic is decidedly the best thing I have ever used, and the only one that seemed to go to the spot and remove the cause."

"The catarrh in my head gave me a great deal of annoyance and at my advanced age I did not expect to find permanent relief. I would get up in the mornings with a heavy, dull feeling in the front part of my head. My nose would stop up at night. The sense of smell was not as good as a few years ago and my hearing was badly affected."

"I would hawk and spit up a great deal of mucus and yellowish matter and sometimes it was tinged with blood. During damp, cloudy or changeable weather I would contract cold easily. Shortly after I noticed the Catarrh in my head began to annoy me so much, my stomach gave me trouble also. As a matter of fact I did not enjoy anything I ate. When I would finish my meals I began to fill up with gas that caused the most disagreeable sensation, and especially about my heart the gas would press upward and would cause my heart to beat fast, and I would at times become uneasy about myself."

"I was extremely nervous most of the time and slept very little, and was continually constipated. While in Steubenville, Ohio, I read about World's Tonic and decided to try it. Well, it is the best money I ever spent. Three bottles have done wonders for me, and I am here today to get more," said Mr. A. P. Berckbier of Butler, Penn., in a talk with the World's Tonic druggist.

If you suffer from Catarrh, get a bottle today. See at Eckert's, McKee's, Paisley, Smith's and all other good druggists. (A-128).

MANY IN DIVORCE CASES

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Calif., Mar. 9.—With 93,000 divorce cases on Los Angeles court dockets during the last five years, the court clerk's office has estimated that one fourth of the population of Los Angeles had been directly or indirectly concerned in marital litigation in that time. As each suit involved a husband and wife, and the average family consisted of the parents and at least one child, and in many cases no-respondents, the clerk estimated the total at 500,000 per time.

A Grown-up Store Serves You More Intimately

It seems like an odd contradiction to say that the more customers A & P has, the more intimately it can serve each one of them. Yet it's a fact.

The original little store from which A & P sprang was stocked with carefully bought food. But after all, it was a small store, and it had to buy what the market offered.

The grown-up A & P of today is stocked with food whose selection takes the full time of hundreds of buyers, scattered across the face of the earth, searching wherever good foods originate for the pick of the crop. So it is that when you express a desire for a certain type of food, a specialist in that food knows where to find it at the peak of quality, for the lowest price.

The A & P store in your neighborhood, backed by an army of expert buyers, carries out your wishes as the little old original store never dreamed of doing.

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to New Castle Drug Co., Eckert's, or your druggist, and get 1 oz. of Parment (Double Strength), and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water, and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

Wedding Ceremony Marks Final Food Show Session

It is seldom that a bride and groom plight their vows in the presence of as large a group of people as did Miss Myrdred Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Myers of Quest street, and Wesley C. Imoff, son of Mrs. Iva M. Redmond, of 107 Richelle avenue, the principals in the public wedding held Saturday evening at 10:30 o'clock in the Cathedral, as the concluding part of the second annual food show of the New Castle Retail Merchants Association.

The wedding was conducted with all the dignity that could be desired in such an important event in the lives of two young people, embarking on the sea of matrimony and the courtesy accorded the principals in this event by the crowd of some twelve to fifteen hundred people, could not have been more pronounced in a church wedding.

E. T. Parrish, who with C. Everett Anderson, president, P. W. Hill, secretary and the members of the Retail Grocers Association, staged the show, was master of ceremonies.

As Mrs. Harold Walton softly intoned the wedding march, Rev. J. W. St. Clair, pastor of the East Brook U. P. Church, officiating minister, the bride and groom and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Fletcher, the best man and matron of honor, in the order named, proceeded to the platform in the show room in the Cathedral, where the bridal couple and attendants grouped themselves in front of Rev. St. Clair, who stood immediately in front of the banked palms, and flowers and plants used with pretty decorative effects.

As the playing of the wedding march continued, Rev. St. Clair proceeded with the ceremony in which Miss Myers and Mr. Imoff were united in marriage. The full religious ceremony, including the ring service, was carried out. A pin might have been heard to drop during the ceremony and when concluded, the vast throng then broke into applause, not at all unpleasant to the participants or their friends, as Mr. and Mrs. Imoff turned and faced the audience.

Then followed the interested ceremony of introducing Mayor William H. Gillespie and Councilman L. G. Genkinger, who came forward and extended their congratulations to the bride and groom. Then followed the unique ceremony of cutting the immense wedding cake and after the participants had been presented with large slices, other slices were offered to the crowd at their own bids and a large sum was realized, which was presented to the bride, after the entire cake had been distributed.

The bride cut the first piece after which Mrs. R. E. Bradley cut the balance. The bride was most becoming in a flowered chiffon dress with accessories to match, while the matron of honor also wore a flowered chiffon dress. The bride carried a beautiful bridal bouquet of brides roses, while the matron of honor also carried flowers.

Seated in a position of honor during the ceremony were Mayor Gillespie, Councilman Genkinger, the brides parents, the groom's mother; Miss Jewell Imoff, sister of the groom, and Mrs. J. P. Allen.

Following the ceremony, the father of the bride remarked on the great courtesy extended his daughter by the immense throng.

The final feature of the highly successful show, was the distribution of the prize baskets and other articles. The fortunate persons were J. Weinbaum, Mae Weiss, R. D. No. 1, W. C. Moore, 112 South Mulberry street; E. O. Dunlap, 126 Sheridan avenue; S. E. Hague, 124 North Mulberry street; Art. McNicholas, 930 East Hazel street; M. G. Brown, 27 Butler avenue; J. H. Burry, 212 Fairfield avenue; T. Huffner, Atlantic avenue; James Daly, Moody avenue.

Mrs. Spence, 2 Wallace avenue; J. Montgomery, 920 Warren avenue; Mrs. B. F. Fulton, 718 Young street; N. Berlingo, 116 Lawrence street; George Overhightner, 418 Croton avenue; Nick Gardner, 113 Quest street; M. Cik, 111 Miller street; Mary Young, 609 Superior street; Miss Chapin 324 Boyles avenue; Mrs. E. Rote, 211 Patterson avenue.

R. Langbrod, Mercer street; Betty Welch, Neshannock Boulevard; Ella McWilliams, 421 Garfield avenue; F.

Huffner, 216 Atlantic avenue; Mrs. Churchill, city; Dolly Boya, 1308 Hamilton street.

Mr. and Mrs. Imoff, the bride and groom, were most fortunate, receiving a considerable amount of cash offered by the Retail Grocers Association and from the sale of pieces of the wedding cake, furniture, foodstuff and articles useful in furnishing a home from the exhibitors and others participating in the show. They will reside in this city.

Warns Against Severe Restriction Of Diet

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

There always is an element of danger in following out a vigorous line of treatment which interferes with the proper administration of one of the essentials of life. This is most true of diets and dieting.

Unwise dieting, I mean. Dieting which reduces the proper amount of nutrition without good and sufficient objects to gain. Women who are already within proper weight limits and who continue dieting to get wealth-like figures at the expense of their strength and temper. Diabetics must, of course, watch their food religiously, but now with the use of insulin even they can get enough to eat to keep them comfortable.

Since I have been writing this week about those peculiar people who restrict their diets in order to avoid the symptoms of asthma and chronic nasal diseases and recurrent skin rashes which such food sensitiveness may cause, I feel that I should add a note of warning to my advice.

First, it is always dangerous to restrict diet very much. Especially is it dangerous to keep on withdrawing one food after another from the dietary on the grounds that "it does not agree with me." But especially is it dangerous to restrict articles of food if there is no gain from it.

So my warning is that if you do not get immediately results from withholding definite articles of food—results consisting in complete relief from your asthma or eczema or whatever you have—stop it at once. Go back to a full diet. You will need all your strength to combat your disease.

People are so eager to get rid of such a pest as asthma or eczema that they are literally willing to undergo any hardship. And they hear the sometimes too sanguine promises of the new developments in this field of medical science—allegory—and take them very seriously. It must be remembered that in the early development of any field in medical science enthusiasm is apt to run high and often harm is done by a too-faithful adherence to drastic treatment. It takes about 25 years for a specialty in medicine to sow its wild oats and begin to weed out the valuable from the false parts of the doctrine.

Medical science doesn't know all about these hypersensitive people yet by any means. A recent report tells of a girl who had asthma and was found to be sensitive to white bread, oatmeal or barley. But even when she did not eat these foods she was not cured of her asthma until the pet cat was removed from the house. She could eat bread and oatmeal without having any asthma after the cat had gone.

Whenever a very long list of foods is removed from the diet trouble is likely to follow.

Eleven Billions For New Construction Work

WASHINGTON, Mar. 9.—Public construction projects involving an expenditure of $11,000,000,000 will be begun throughout the world this year with half of it in the United States.

This was announced today in a Commerce Department summary prepared by Hector Laz of the construction division. He said the expenditure planned evidence a "general world wide spending up of all government projects" brought about by a desire to furnish employment.

Of the total $3,000,000,000 was estimated to represent highway construction, the remainder going toward buildings and plants.

"These vast undertakings," the statement said, "will have the double advantage that they will not only relieve the present unemployment situation, but will also result in economic benefit to the nations involved through the addition of a large list of permanent assets of a wealth building character."

For the United States, the public works outlay for 1931 was given as $3,500,000,000, representing federal, state and local enterprises. American highway expenditures planned were placed at $2,000,000,000.

M'Bride Attacks Raskob Wet Plan

Calls On Law Abiding People Of U. S. To Back Herbert Hoover As Dry

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 9.—F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of America, denounced the plan of John J. Raskob for state liquor control at the opening of the league's annual convention here. He praised President Hoover's law enforcement stand, and predicted prohibition would be a leading issue in the 1932 presidential campaign.

"We will never submit to a bootlegger's government in this country, and will never surrender to the liquor interests," he declared, calling on the dry states to "organize and get the last vote in the ballot box."

Of the Raskob plan he said: "The multi-millionaires of the east are trying to get state control. They come forward now and tell the southern states what they should do and offer state rights."

President Hoover, asserted Dr. McBride, "said more in the ten minutes following his oath of office and has stood by it more closely than any of the presidents who have preceded him."

"It is now up to the law abiding people of the United States to block any movement for making the pro-

On Popularity

HOLDIN' HIS FRIENDS

Th' trouble with most men an' women who chase after popularity without makin' any noticeable headway is that ther either lackin' in th' genuine or money.

Ther's two kinds o' popularity: th' real, inexpensive, natural finish, or uncommon variety, an' th' smilin', smirkin' flashy, shimmerin' short-lived sort which depends entirely on one's willin'ness t' come across.

Th' ultimate obscurity that seems

Look at th' grand ole mansion that has been turned int' a boardin' house because it no longer met th' requirements a' th' gay throngs whose laughter once shook its great chandeliers from ther moorin's! T'day it is a shrine fer th' forlorn failures o' society—fruit tree agents, outcasts an' solicitors.

How many people do you know who were once popular an' who thro' some breach o' th' code or ill luck are carryin' th' banner t'day, frazzled an' forgotten?

Popularity is fleetin'. It is here t'day an' gone t'morrow. It vanishes before sudden adversity like a paper dollar on Saturday night. Popularity is like a babe. It must be nursed an' cuddled lest it withers an' fades. As it thrives its up-keep increases.

It's hard t' build up a long neglected popularity as it is t' put a run down hotel back in th' game. T' keep his popularity in good runnin' order a feller should be a nice even tempered goat with a kind word an' a good se-gar fer all.

Ever t'more I see a widely popular feller surrounded by a lot o' smilin' coyotes. I allus think o' that dear ole lyric, "Till Love You When Your Money's Gone, But I'll Not Be With You."

Alfred P. Gibbs Attracts Throng

Services In First Baptist Church Are Well Attended Sunday At Every Session

Interest continues in the evangelistic services being conducted at the First Baptist church by Alfred P. Gibbs of Johannesburg, South Africa. Sunday morning Mr. Gibbs spoke on "The Four Looks of Abraham," emphasizing the facts of salvation by substitution, satisfaction in the Son of God, apprehension of our spiritual blessings in Christ, and the anticipation of our future glorification. "The world is looking for a satisfied Christian," declared Mr. Gibbs, "and when it sees the Christian seeking for his satisfaction; that person's testimony counts for nothing." In the evening Mr. Gibbs gave another strong message on "The Uplift Christ." He showed that sin has made the cross a necessity if the world is to be saved; and that salvation is found only through faith in the One who was lifted up on Calvary's cross to die in the guilty sinner's room and stead.

This evening Mr. Gibbs will give a stereopticon lantern lecture on the parable of the Good Samaritan. The method of presenting the Gospel has been very effective and Mr. Gibbs is unique in his ability to employ the eye as well as the ear to receive the truth of God. Tuesday evening his subject will be "Seven Famous Prayers."

At the evening service Mrs. Paul D. Weller and D. S. Williams gave a splendid rendition of the great hymn "O Love that Will Not Let Me Go," which deeply impressed the audience. The chorus choir contributed strong numbers at both services. Prayer was offered at the morning service by Mr. John Aird of Crafon and at the evening meeting by Rev. Carl Jones, pastor of Zion Baptist church.

(International News Service)
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Mar. 9.—Because of certain "rumors and conjectures" concerning Prosecutor Ray D. Thomas, a second investigation may result from the Harry Engle-Chio Edison snarl, it was indicated today.

The five Mahoning county common pleas judges announced they would send one representative to Columbus to confer with Governor George White concerning the feasibility of investigation Thomas before he be allowed to conduct an inquiry into the Engle case.

Thomas declared that he himself had asked the governor to investigate his office in the event that charges would be filed against him and intimated that he would be present in Columbus simultaneously with the messenger for the jurists.

Presiding Judge Gessner announced that the court would be "perfectly satisfied" in the event that Gov. White ordered Thomas to proceed with the investigation.

Engle has been accused by officials of the Ohio-Edison Company of "services rendered" in his position as a traction commissioner.

EXPECTS TO MAKE PLANS KNOWN SOON

Announcement was made this morning by John S. Crowl, local business man, that he has been named receiver for the Westmoreland Chemical & Color company of this city and Philadelphia, under receivership proceedings instituted in the United States court in Pittsburgh. His bond has been fixed at $15,000.

Mr. Crowl stated that he would be unable to make known any of his plans in connection with the receivership for a few days, until some entanglements are straightened out. Suit in equity against the company, in which it was asserted that the concern was without sufficient funds to carry on its business, was filed by Frederick W. Flaherty of East Orange, N. J. Flaherty alleged that the company had liabilities exceeding $100,000 and assets of approximately $45,000 in machinery and equipment.

In answering the bill of complaint, the directors filed a reply, admitting the allegations and agreed to the receivership.

An effort had previously been made by local business men to put the plant in operation again, and this may be made possible through the receivership.

Charges Against Succop Will Be Thoroughly Aired

Pittsburgh City Council Will Take Action At Session Today

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Mar. 9.—Civic leaders were awaiting the action of city council today in regard to the charges that Director of Supplies Betram L. Succop, dismissed, supervised purchase of food and other city supplies. Today's meeting will give council members the last chance to take action on the matter prior to the double-headed audit of the accounts of the former director, one of which will function at the order of City Controller Dr. J. P. Kerr and the other at the direction of the Citizens' committee and the Allegheny County League of Women voters.

In the face of virulent newspaper charges, begun when Mayor Charles H. Kline discharged Succop with the statement that his department showed "visible irregularities." And requests for further investigation on the part of the League of Women voters, council has decided to consider the matter at an end.

Wednesday will see two audits of the accounts of the former director started. They will be conducted by accounting firms and will extend over the period of years during which Succop headed the department of supplies.

Coming up before council today is a resolution from the Allied Boards of Trade and the Civic club of Allegheny county, in which a complete investigation is asked.

In the car was his case in which he had his insurance collection book and about a dozen new policies, which he was planning to deliver. He and friends were able to trail the car for a distance by the trail left in the snow. Shortly after one o'clock Sunday afternoon, Detective C. G. ## State Receives $395,450 From Fishing Licenses

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 9.—The fees received from fishing licenses issued in Pennsylvania during 1930 greatly exceeded the expenditures by the state during the same period for the propagation of fish. It has been disclosed by the United States bureau of fisheries in its survey of propagation and distribution of food fishes in 1930 just made public.

During the year 1930, Pennsylvania issued a total of 263,933 fishing licenses at an aggregate cost to the fishermen of $35,450. The revenue received from fishing licenses issued in the Keystone state was in proportion to that of the majority of other states of the country. The number of fishing licenses cover all classes of licenses which carry, individually, or in combination, the privilege of fishing.

There was a state expenditure of $192,158.39 during 1930 for propagation of fish in the state's hatcheries. Pennsylvania, at the close of the year, had a total of eight hatcheries and 33 fish-cultural employees. It was reported by the bureau of fisheries that these eight hatcheries had a total output of 398,953,484 fish, the state ranking third in this respect among the states throughout the country.

Of the total output of fish by the state's hatcheries, 114,430,600 were commercial species, 749,561 trout, 255,805 bass and 283,531,028 other game fish, according to the bureau's survey.

What the NEW HUMIDOR PACK means to Camel Smokers *

COMPARE a package of Camels with any other cigarette and note the difference in the technique of packing.

Note that Camels are completely enclosed in an outer transparent cover of moisture-proof cellophane and sealed air-tight at every point.

We call this outer shell the Humidor Pack. It differs from the ordinary cellophane pack and while it is egg-shell thin, it means a lot in terms of cigarette enjoyment.

It means, for instance, that evaporation is checkmated and that Salt Lake City can now have as good Camels as Winston-Salem.

While Camels are made of a blend of the choicest Turkish and mellowest domestic tobaccos, it is highly important, if you are to get full benefit of this quality, that these cigarettes come to you with their natural moisture content still intact.

The Humidor Pack insures that. It prevents the fine tobaccos of Camels from drying out and losing any of their delightful flavor.

Aside from cheap tobacco, two factors in a cigarette can mar the smoker's pleasure:

Fine particles of peppery dust if left in the tobacco by inefficient cleaning methods sting and irritate delicate throat membrane.

Dry tobacco, robbed of its natural moisture by scorching or by evaporation gives off a hot smoke that burns the throat with every inhalation.

We take every precaution against these factors here at Winston-Salem.

A special vacuum cleaning apparatus removes dust and now the new Humidor Pack prevents dryness.

Check the difference yourself

It is a very simple matter to check the difference between Humidor Packed Camels and other ordinary dry cigarettes.

First of all you can feel the difference as you roll the cigarettes between your fingers. Camels are full-bodied and pliable. A dry cigarette crumbles under pressure and sheds tobacco.

If you will hold a cigarette to each ear and roll them with your fingers you can actually hear the difference.

The real test of course is to smoke them. And here's where the new Humidor Pack proves a real blessing to the smoker.

As you inhale the cool, fragrant smoke from a Camel you get all the mildness and magic of the fine tobaccos of which it is blended.

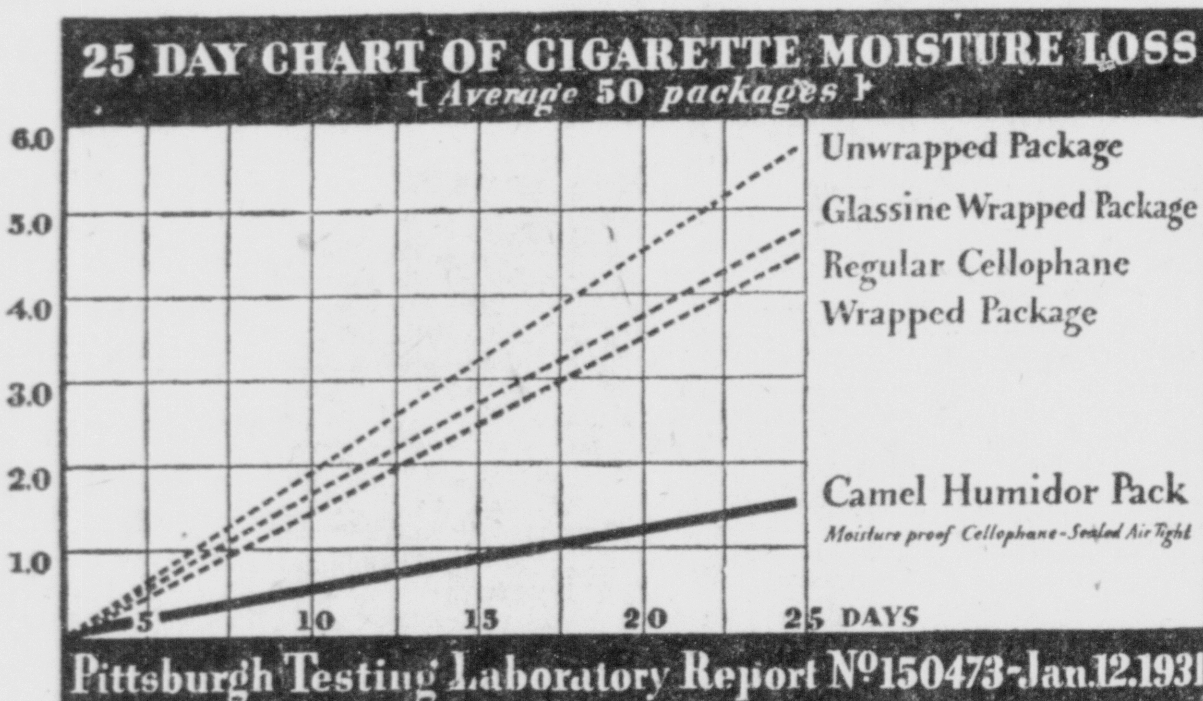

But when you draw in the hot smoke from a dried cigarette see how flat and brackish it is by comparison and how harsh it is to your throat.

If you are a regular Camel smoker you have already noticed what proper condition of the cigarette means.

But if you haven't tried Camels in the new Humidor Pack you have a new adventure with Lady Nicotine in store.

Switch your affections for just one day, then go back to your old love tomorrow if you can.

Warn Against Giving Rides To Strangers

Pennsylvania Motor Federation Tells Of Dangers Of Practice

CRIMINALS ARE FOUND INCREASING

HARRISBURG, Pa., Mar. 9.—Warning to motorists against giving lifts to strangers who stand along the road soliciting rides was sounded today by the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, State unit of the American Automobile Association.

"This form of highway panhandling has become so dangerous and so annoying that steps must be taken to abolish it and to that end the State Legislature will be called on this year to make ride soliciting on the public highways a misdemeanor," S. Edward Gable, president of the Federation, explained. "Motorist organizations, civic bodies, many firms operating trucks and thousands of individual citizens are in back of the move, which has the support of a number of members of the General Assembly."

"Hitch hiking now is unlawful in five states and in the District of Columbia. Minnesota was the first to pass such a law and it worked out so successfully there that Maine, New Jersey, Wisconsin, New York and the District of Columbia have enacted similar legislation, and it is likely that ride soliciting on the highways will be put under the ban by a number of other states this year."

A survey of hitch-hiker conditions in Pennsylvania was revealed, according to Mr. Gable, that while many of those who solicit rides are honest and upright, more and more the criminally-minded are taking advantage of the opportunities offered by this practice as an effective means of carrying out their depredations. "This has led the general motoring public to be more wary of the ride solicitor," he said, "and especially of those whose general appearance gives rise to suspicion. The criminal has sensed this, however, and realizing that a driver who will refuse to heed the solicitations of the poorly-dressed often will stop and take into his car the roadside traveler of good appearance, has in numerous instances adopted a genteel guise."

"In view of the unusually large number of people traveling from place to place these days the railroad roads are patrolling their lines with more care and thereby giving less opportunity to people to 'ride the rods'. This has driven many undesirable to the highways, and has added to the dangers of giving lifts to the wayside traveler."

Pending passage of a law banning hitch hiking in Pennsylvania motorists can do much to break up this practice by flatly refusing to heed the signal of the 'thumb jerk'. Often serious injuries, robbery, and at times even murders have resulted from what was intended to be a kindly act on the part of the motorist. It is virtually impossible to distinguish between the honest and the crooked stranger who asks for a lift and the only safe way is to pass them all by."

Here's Quick Way To Break Up a Cold

Makes You Feel Like a New Person

Almost before you know it break it up with a cold is to break it up in a hurry—with something you know does the job; not to trifle with a lot of trick ideas and remedies. Colds are too dangerous to experiment with.

Get a box of Hill's Cascara Quinine at any drug store. Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all.

Soon that miserable, aching feeling begins to go. The cold breaks up. The poisons are moved from your system. The world looks like an altogether different place.

Those results come because Hill's goes back the first principles by going to the seat of the trouble. It's not a new-fangled fancy idea but a tried and proved way that's made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy.

Hill's costs only a few cents. Use it for quick relief after everything else you've tried has failed.

Hot Mill And Office Winners

Warm Battle In Shelby League For Second Half Winner

GOOD GAMES ON SATURDAY NIGHT

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 9.—Conditions are unaltered in the Shelby league as the Hot Mills defeated the champion Specialty 40-31 and the Mechanicals dropped another game to the Office 44-32 in the Shelby auditorium Saturday night. Both teams are determined to hold their place in the league as long as possible. The winning teams, the Hot Mills and the Office, are still deadlocked for first place in the second half of the league. Both are desperately battling to come out on top and be the one to challenge the Specialty, the first half winners, for the championship of the season.

The second half is now drawing to its close. There is only two more games for each to play. On the final day the two deadlocked teams are scheduled to meet again in case the event isn't decided before this. The Shelby auditorium will be one place of action and frenzy during this time.

The Hot Mills had taken an early lead in the initial quarter of the first game, which they maintained till its close, 8-7. Freidhoff and Fitzgerald acquired one field goal apiece and the remainder were fouls. The Hot Mills again managed to just keep ahead of their great rivals at the half way mark by a score of 16-15. Every step was contested in this game, neither team willing to give in until the final whistle. In the ensuing period the Specialty made a vain effort to acquire the lead but again fell short by a 27-24 count, although they still could not outscore their opponents. It was the Hot Mills quarter again by a 11-9 count. In this period Freidhoff, one of the main cogs in the Hot Mills offensive power, was ejected via four personal fouls, but Chambers filled the void in the closing stanza as they rolled up 13 points to seven for the opponents and took the game by a 40-31 score.

There were no outstanding stars for the victors in this game, their teamwork being the feature. The scoring was nearly divided. The condition was likewise for the losers.

The Mechanicals in their many late games have indeed proved to be luckless. They have given every team in the league a terrific battle and mostly holding the lead until the final period when they would be nosed out for the contest. It has always proved so. They had given the league leaders many a scare but were just nosed out all the time. It is the general feeling among fans that this "hard luck" team is going to be a deciding factor for determining the second half winners.

In the second game the Mechanicals did not acquire the lead at any time but always trailing close behind the Office. A fast offensive in the initial period led by Leyda netted the Office 11 points to six for the Mechanicals who were held to two field goals while their opponents acquired five. The Mechanicals presented a threat as they made an effort to gain the lead but fell short at the conclusion of the half, the score being 18-15 for the Office, although the latter was outscored 9-7 in this period.

The Office again advanced a point to the Office lead before the close of the third quarter, the score being 22-26. And again the Mechanicals received the best or the argument by collecting 11 points to 10 for the Office. The final stanza was a complete rout for the Office quintet. Their fine offensive launched in this period netted them 16 points to six for the opponents, with Reiley and Leyda showing the way to victory.

Leyda, Johnson and Reiley were the outstanding performers for the winners, according to themselves with six five and four baskets respectively. Labate and Boyle starred for the losers with four buckets apiece.

There is now an increased tension in the Shelby league as the season grows high and the second half winner is still undetermined. There is an increased tension in the atmosphere now. Tuesday the Office, one of the contenders for second half honors, is scheduled to meet the champion Specialty quint, and the Hot Mills will engage the Mechanicals. The games on this day will meet assuredly be the most exciting as each time will strive desperately to win. If the deadlock is not shattered on this day events will reach a crisis the following Saturday when the Office and the Hot Mills are scheduled to battle. These are the two contenders for second half honors. One of the largest turnouts of fans is expected to fill the auditorium on both occasions.

Class Banquet Much Enjoyed

Loyal Men's Class Guests Of Bethany Class At Christian Church

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 9.—Everybody was in a happy cheery mood Saturday night at the banquet to the Loyal Men's Class by the Bethany Class of the First Christian church. There were 150 people present and the evening was considered by all a huge success.

This banquet had been looked forward to for a long time and the Loyal Men were beginning to wonder if they would get it. When the entertainment and the fine banquet in general was finally given last Saturday night the Loyal Men were taken completely by surprise by the splendor of everything. The Bethany Class had thought of everything—a feast, entertainment, and decorations. Beautiful spring flowers adorned the tables and a general color scheme of red and white carried out.

The assemblage had begun the events of the evening by singing one verse of "America" which was followed by a prayer given by Rev. H. D. K. Huber. Then while the serving was going on Mrs. Arthur Howells favored the gathering with a solo accompanied by Mrs. John Aiken. Also this time Frank Renoff of Beaver Falls rendered two selections after which he was compelled to do an encore. A toast to the Men's Class was given by Mary Ella Gordon to which Earl Adams of the Bethany Class responded with "How We Shall Do It." Following this the assemblage was given a rare treat.

Rev. Huber came out of his somber serious character and sang an exceedingly humorous song entitled "When Father Takes a Bath." Then the guests were entertained by a Scotch comedian, George Paxton who rendered a number of songs. Rev. Huber gave a short talk when called upon by those present. Mr. Renoff again favored with a song. The feature of the evening was an address by C. W. Herman Hess of New Castle. He put across a straight forward talk that went to the hearts of those present. Mr. Hess is a popular New Castleite and was very well appreciated on this occasion. His address had logic and was well applauded.

A prayer closed the events of the day led by W. F. Aiken, teacher of the Bethany class.

According to all indications the Bethany class will be the recipient of a banquet the next time. Sunday they nosed out the Loyal Men 61-60 and the week preceding 81-78, thus leading the first two weeks of the contest.

Fishermen Are Lost Along Coast

Small Vessel Is Found Overturned Off New England Coast

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service) NEWBURYPORT, Mass., Mar. 9.—Evidence that death rode with the Sunday gale which lashed the New England coast was discovered today by coast guardsmen, who sighted wreckage of a small Gloucester fishing trawler floating in the rolling Atlantic off Plum Island.

As the wreckage began to come ashore at the northern end of the island, Surfman Norman O'Brien of the Merrimack river coast guard station discovered the mark of the craft, showing she was the C 4899 out of Gloucester. She usually carried five men.

Coast guardsmen kept a watch along the beach at flood tide in the expectation that bodies of the drowned fishermen would come ashore.

The opinion was expressed that the 45-foot craft lost her bearings, went out of control in the gale and was lost in the breakers that hammered the shore. The craft was broken into kindling wood so powerful was the force of the waves at the mouth of the Merrimack.

State's Case In Buckley Murder Given Setback

Defense Attorney Draws Damaging Statement From Star Witness

STORY CHANGED WITNESS ASSERTS

(International News Service) DETROIT, Mar. 9.—Damaging blows to the state's case at the trial of three alleged gangsters for the murder of Gerald Buckley crime-crushing radio announcer, were delivered today by defense attorneys when they obtained admissions from a star witness that his story had changed and that he had been given "hundreds of dollars" by the police department.

Elmer Jolly, house detective at the LaSalle hotel at the time Buckley was "put on the spot" there and state's witness against Angelo Liv-echi, one of the three men on trial said he made weekly trips to the police department for funds. He vaguely estimated the sum at "hundreds of dollars" and declared that "I don't know what the money was for."

Story Changed

Under sharp questioning by LeRoy Payne, brilliant young defense attorney, Jolly admitted that at a police hearing on August 8 he testified that he saw Liv-echi only twice on the night of the murder. At the trial Saturday, Jolly stated that he had seen Liv-echi "several times," and recounted at least five instances of seeing Liv-echi.

Liv-echi is alleged by police to have been the "finger-man" in the case. He is charged with having pointed out Buckley to Ted Pizzino and Joe Bonmartino, the other two men on trial, and a third unknown gunman. The latter was alleged to have been the "trigger men" in the case.

Jolly also admitted saying ten days after the murder that he was "in this case for all I can get out of it."

Jolly, under questioning, declared that he was dismissed by the LaSalle Hotel officials about two weeks after the murder.

"They told me," he said "that they had received a tip that I was going to be bumped off because of testimony in the Buckley case. They said I was too hot to have around."

Payne created a furore of excited whispers among the spectators when he asked:

"Isn't it true that you have been bootlegging since the murder under protection of the police department?"

"No," answered Jolly. "Have you ever heard how much reward there was for the murderer's capture?" Payne queried.

"I heard about $13,500," testified the ex-hotel detective.

"Isn't it true that police promised to cut you in on this?" demanded Payne.

"No," Jolly replied.

Gaston Post To Meet Tuesday

Plans for the banquet are progressing most satisfactorily and the national commander, Ralph T. O'Neil, is scheduled to arrive here early Wednesday morning. He will spend the day quickly at The Castleton, due to the fact that he has only recently recovered from a serious illness and must rest during the day in order to be in shape for the big affair in the evening at The Cathedral.

A fine program of music has been arranged for the banquet and also prior to the banquet and following the banquet in the auditorium of the Cathedral.

Former Woodsman Found Murdered

Brutal And Mysterious Murder Uncovered In Elk County Today

OFFICIALS ARE INVESTIGATING

(International News Service) RIDGWAY, Pa., Mar. 9.—The most brutal and mysterious murder in Elk county in recent years was revealed here today with the finding of the bruised and battered body of James Louer, 50, a former woodsman, in his small home in the western section of Ridgway.

Louer apparently had been beaten to death with a blunt weapon. His head was crushed in by heavy blows.

Coroner F. W. McCabe, who was called to examine the body, immediately ordered an inquest for late today. Physicians who viewed Louer's body expressed the belief that he had been dead since Friday night last. The body was frozen in the position in which the man had crumpled to the floor.

County Detective Leo Werner and Deputy Sheriff Joseph A. May, who were assigned to the case, expressed mystification over the motive behind the murder and over the identity of the slayer.

Louer had been employed by a lumber company in the forests in this vicinity until two years ago when he came to Ridgway and went to work for the Elk Tanning Company.

For the last year, however, he had been out of employment and was not believed to have had a considerable amount of funds in the house.

One theory advanced was that Louer had discovered a tramp or itinerant worker prowling about the house and had engaged in a struggle with the intruder.

Red Cross Board To Meet Tonight

Sum Of Money Is Taken From The Strong Box Of The Safe

Sunday morning, an employee of the O. C. Orr Baking company reported to the police that the plant office on Grove street had been entered and the strong box of the safe forced and between thirty and forty dollars in cash taken.

Officers Dukes and Augustine investigated and found that entrance had been gained by forcing a garage door in the rear of the plant and gaining entrance from that place into the bakery department.

Entrance to the office was gained by taking the pins out of the hinges of the door leading into the office. A tire tool was found that was evidently used in forcing the strong box. The doors to the office and at the side of the building had been found all right during the night by Officer Shaner, who is on that beat.

Youngstown Man Suicide Victim Officials Learn

Henry Sammartino, Wealthy Youngstown Business Man Hung Self

WAS VICTIM OF CARD GAMBLERS

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Mar. 9.—Stripped of his cash and threatened by professional card sharps, Henry C. Sammartino, a wealthy business man of Youngstown, Ohio, committed suicide by hanging himself in his stateroom aboard the Steamship Pennsylvania, it was learned today when the liner reached quarantine.

Earlier reports said that the man had been beaten to death by the gamblers and the man's family had asked Italian consular authorities to investigate. At the request of the Italian consul, New York City detectives met the liner at quarantine.

Sammartino, 50, a first cabin passenger, sailed on the Pennsylvania from New York, January 31. On the first day out he was inveigled into a poker game by two card sharps, losing $1,300 all the cash on his person.

The daily play was resumed and Sammartino lost heavily. He offered a check in settlement and had made it out. When it dawned on him that he had been the victim of sharps, he tore up the check and denounced the two winners.

A few hours later, passengers said, the two gamblers met Sammartino in the smoking room. There was some drinking and the card sharps were heard to threaten Sammartino.

Passengers added that Sammartino then began to drink heavily, and although the gamblers left the ship at Havana, their victim began to act queerly. The Pennsylvania was three days out of Havana when a passenger who shared Sammartino's stateroom returned to find him hanging from a ventilator.

Attempt Made To Pass "Bad" Money On Merchants Here

New Twenty Dollar Counterfeits Presented Several Places On Saturday

Officer Willis McMullen on Saturday night became aware of several attempts to pass counterfeit twenty dollar bills on merchants of this city by two men. He immediately reported to the police station and other officers were detailed to try and locate the men responsible.

The fact that the twenty dollar bills were a very brilliant green color was all that prevented the success of the counterfeiters, who were unable to pass any on the merchants from whom they tried to purchase goods.

Among the places where the attempt was made were the Patterson Thrift Shop, North Jefferson street, Sears-Roebuck & Company, Penn Drake Service Station, North Jefferson street.

One of the men was described as being twenty-five or thirty years of age, five feet five or six inches in height, and wearing a dark overcoat, and light hat. He had the appearance of being either an Italian or a Jew, according to the police.

The other man was heavier in build and about forty years of age. He had on a brown overcoat and was not clean shaven.

Little Girl Tells Of Alleged Attack

Tony Pascarella Placed On Trial On Charge By Nine Year Old Child

When the case of the commonwealth against Tony Pascarella who had been indicted for statutory rape, was called for trial in court this morning, attorney for defendant made a motion to quash the indictment for the reason that the information charged assault and battery and attempted rape, whereas the indictment had charged statutory rape.

The motion was granted so far as the first count on the indictment was charged, but refused as to the attempt. A pretty nine year old child went upon the witness stand and told of the actions of Pascarella.

She said that she had first seen Pascarella in a five and ten cent store. She was looking at some articles when he came along and began to talk to her. Witness said that it was nearly dark and that he had asked her not to go home until it was dark. She had refused.

The next day she saw him on her way to the North street school. He talked to her a little while. In a day or two she again met him near a store on the south west corner of Mill and North street. After talking a little while he asked her to go into a passage way leading to the alley back of the store. She went in and came out again. He asked her what she thought of it and she said she did not see anything unusual.

On several subsequent occasions she said Pascarella intercepted her near the store and accompanied her into the passage way. She then described what took place and claimed that Pascarella had given her five cents several times.

Attention of the police was called to the actions of Pascarella and the little girl and his arrest followed. Policewoman Mrs. Minnie McKibben and Captain Edward Elder of the police force also gave testimony. The case is still on trial.

Varied Questions Asked Daily Of City Librarian

"I'm looking for a name for the nicest little girl in the world." The beaming smile of the individual asking this question of the city librarian betrays the proud father, and the librarian reaches for her book of names. This is just one of a number of greatly varied questions asked at the reference desk of the public library every day.

"Who is our congressman?" is one of the common questions asked, according to Miss Alice Sterling, librarian.

Is Zane Grey a man or a woman? How were funds raised for the erection of the McKinley monument?

Or, what date in 1911 did Easter fall in the Greek Catholic church? What is the plural of hobby? What are the names of the district governors of the Rotary Club? How can one take an ink spot out of a valuable rug?

These are just a few of many questions which have been asked at the library in recent weeks. Spelling words and locating quotations, telling the business conditions which prevail in some remote town, giving the text of new bills and telling how congressmen voted are also included among the varied services demanded of the library.

Woman Implicated In Slave Market Drops From Sight

Olive Clark Day, Mixed Up In Los Angeles "Girl Bazaar" Disappears

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Calif., Mar. 9.—
Operatives of three different agencies today began a search for Olive Clark Day, former actress, charged with conducting a Hollywood "girl bazaar", who is reported to have been kidnapped.

Miss Day, together with William H. Jobelmann, are accused of operating a love syndicate in the motion picture colony at which young high school girls were auctioned off to wealthy men for week-end hotel parties.

In an asserted confession made to the district attorney's investigators shortly before her sudden disappearance Miss Day named many prominent Los Angeles men as regular patrons of the slave mart which procured girls for immoral purposes.

The former actress dropped from sight immediately after her release on $5,000 bail early Saturday morning. The man who posted the surety bond is under surveillance, according to District Attorney Burton Pitts.

Operators of the district attorney's office and the bonding company assisted police in the search for the missing woman. It was reported that Miss Day had been spirited away into Mexico in an effort to silence her.

Reports that other asserted slave markets are operating in Hollywood and Los Angeles occupied detectives today.

Store, where he is daily explaining to scores of men and women how to use this amazing new medicine for best results.

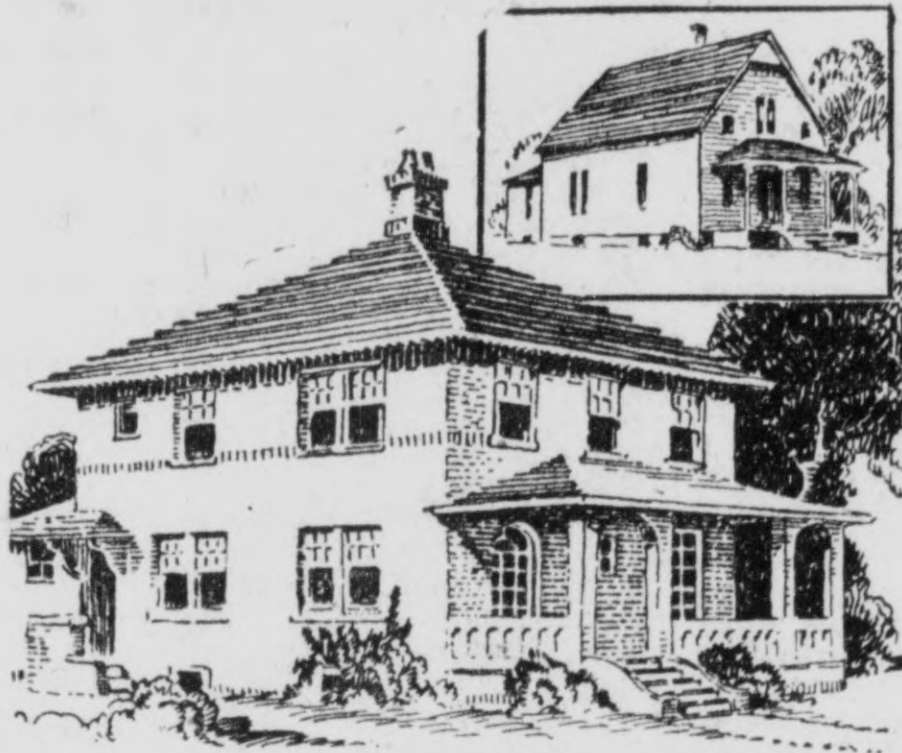

"I have been troubled with indigestion, for the past two years. It seemed that I was never free from gas in my stomach and pain around my heart. My back ached all of the time. I'd get staggering dizzy spells and my nerves were so on edge that I was restless and irritable. I was troubled continually with constipation.

"About two weeks ago, I started using Nu-Erb, and the indigestion and gas haven't bothered me at all since then. It is just great to be rid of that heartburn and distressed feeling. I am no longer troubled with backache. My nerves are steady. My bowels are acting regularly every day. I sleep soundly at night and I have a splendid appetite. I can surely recommend this medicine very highly."

A Modern Home is a Substantial Asset to Its Community.

Plato said that evil was that which, if indulged in by everyone, would render our social order impossible.

Imagine, now, a community of homes, no one of which is kept in trim... all rather worn before their time... all decrepit... all of them creating an impression that their owners are a slovenly, lazy lot.

Don't you think that each home-owner owes it to his neighborhood to keep his home modern, neat and attractive?

Little alterations and little improvements may make a world of difference not only in the attractiveness of your home but in the comfort and convenience that it affords. And then, too, a home that is kept modern, neat and up-to-date always has a greater market and if sold always brings a much larger price.

Grievances To Be Presented

City Solicitor To Present Grievances At Hearing Before House

P. S. C. PROBES TO HEAR FROM CITY

Solicitor Robert White has been authorized by city council to detail the grievances of the city of New Castle with the Public Service Commission, growing out of public utility matters here.

The authorization was extended White after Bart Richards, city representative in the House of representatives had asked the city to furnish the information if the city wished to present any grievances.

A hearing on grievances from cities of the First, Second and Third class is to be held Thursday, March 12, in the House of representatives at Harrisburg, Pa., according to the representative.

This is a good chance to object to the $1.00 minimum gas reading "declared Mayor Gillespie." "When the gas company issues the next reading the $1.00 is not taken off" he alleged.

White remarked that the building of the Pennsylvania railroad bridge here was an "outrage." He said the city had to pay one fourth the cost "for a new bridge for the Pennsylvania."

He also said that the people are paying 1 1/2 mill tax for electric light service and said "the $80,000, we pay is too much."

"All right, it is up to you now" remarked Genkinger.

Council Treasurer said White should include the fact that the city wants P-O tracks removed in Hamilton street, Long avenue and Beaver streets.

White declared the city had complained to the commission about railroad crossings but nothing had come from it.

He condemned the present method of railroad crossing gates in lowering gates. White said he had tested this out and the method is dangerous.

White alleged that the gates are dropped on automobiles and that the bells which are rung cannot be heard.

The solicitor said he would be glad to hear from autoists who had had gates dropped on their cars while going across railroad crossings.

Council inferred that White should take up this latter question with the railroad companies and a change in method might be worked out for New Castle.

Students Strike For Longer Time As Lunch Period

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Mar. 9.—Two hundred Larksville high school boys today decided their appetites were more important than textbooks. When Principal Thomas Feeney refused to extend the school lunch period from 45 minutes to an hour or an hour and a half, the youths went on strike and refused to attend classes.

The rebels were hopeful that the rest of the school's 700 pupils would join them this afternoon.

Girls who joined in the demonstration this morning wilted at this last moment and went to classes, amid the jeers of the strikers.

According to a student committee the present lunch period is not long enough to permit students to return home and eat.

"We're willing to stay longer in the afternoon," one leader said, "but we're gonna eat."

Fine Of $200 Is Paid, Parole Given

George Koerner, Jr., convicted of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, presented a petition to court for parole this morning. Koerner was sentenced to pay a fine of $200 and costs and to undergo imprisonment in the county jail for three months, his sentence beginning on January 24, 1931.

He has now served 33 days. He was released on parole for one year upon payment of the fine and costs.

25. Benedict Arnold—Arnold Marches To Relieve For Stanwix

WHILE HERKIMER WAS BATTLING AT ORISKANY (AUGUST 6, 1777) TO BREAK THROUGH ST. LEGER'S BRITISH ARMY AND RESCUE FORT STANWIX, THE GARRISON BOLDLY SALLIED FROM THE FORT AND MADE AN AUDACIOUS RAID UPON THE BESIEGERS' CAMP.

FALLING SUDDENLY UPON THE STARTLED RED COATS, THE AMERICANS SEIZED A LARGE QUANTITY OF SUPPLIES AND AMMUNITION AND FIVE BRITISH BATTLEFLAGS, AND THEN RETIRED INTO THE FORT IN TRIUMPH. THIS SUCCESS CHEERED THE DEFENDERS AND HELPED THEM PROLONG THEIR PLUCKY RESISTANCE.

AFTER HERKIMER HAD FAILED TO GET THROUGH TO FORT STANWIX, GENERAL SCHUYLER CALLED FOR A VOLUNTEER TO LEAD A SECOND ATTEMPT TO RESCUE THE BELEAGUERED GARRISON. BENEDICT ARNOLD OFFERED HIMSELF FOR THE DESPERATE ENTERPRISE.

ARNOLD HASTILY ORGANIZED A RELIEF FORCE OF 1200 VOLUNTEERS FROM SCHUYLER'S ARMY AND MARCHED SWIFTLY UP THE MOHAWK VALLEY, AUGUST 21ST. FORT STANWIX WAS STILL HOLDING OUT AND ARNOLD WAS CAUTIOUSLY APPROACHING ST. LEGER'S LINES.

NEW CASTLE ENTERS SEMI-FINAL ROUND; WINS EXCITING GAME

Three Thousand Fans Watch One Of Best Games Of W. P. I. A. L. Tourney—New Castle Quint Is Extended To Win Over Speedy Monessen Five—Local Unde-feated Passers Make Bad Showing On Foul Line—Captain Nick Uram Stars For Bridenbaugh Coached Machine—Rodebaugh, Zelaska Are Outstanding For Monessen Representatives—Although Victorious, New Castle Is Not Impressive.

For the 19th consecutive time this season the New Castle high basketball team came through victorious when on Saturday night on the Pitt floor, Pittsburgh, the five entered the semi-final round of the W. P. I. A. L. tournament by defeating a fast Monessen high team in the opening game of the second round of the tourney. The final score was 16-15. A crowd of 3,000 delirious fans, from both cities, watched the game.

The contest was close from start to finish. Monessen led twice during the game. At the start and early in the fourth period, New Castle managed to hold a small lead throughout the game with the exception of the two brief periods that Monessen was on top.

First Quarter 2-2
As Referee Hannum blew his whistle starting the game it wasn't long until the Monessen stands, crowded with rooters, was in a state of ecstasy as Rodebaugh, Monessen's forward made a pretty left hand shot from the side to give his team a 2-0 lead. A little later the New Castle rooters could be heard from far away, when lanky Andy Lasky dribbled from the center to cage New Castle's first field goal.

Both teams fiddled around a lot during the remaining minutes of the quarter trying desperately to score but their attempts proved futile. New Castle and Monessen both missed several easy shots under the basket in the opening period. The first quarter was tied 2-2.

New Castle started its poor showing on the foul line at the start of the second period when Nick Uram was fouled and was awarded two shots. Both tries were missed. The local "title seekers" came through with two shots in rapid order to place the Tin City eagles on top four points. Shaffer sank a pretty one from the side followed by Captain Nick Uram who retaliated with one from under the hoops. The score was 6-2 at this interval.

Monessen came right back with 3 markers when Tucci made good one of two fouls followed by Rodebaugh who made his two fouls count. John Uram gave New Castle a two point lead when he annexed a foul. The quarter soon ended following this shot. The score was 7-5 at the half, with the Lawrence Countians occupying the top berth. With a few seconds before the half ended Lasky missed an easy one under the hoop.

Monessen tied the score immediately at the start of the third quarter when Kotys made good two fouls. The score was 7-7. Nick Uram again gave New Castle a small lead when he sank the sphere through the hoops from the center of the court. Russell Reiber playing his first game as a forward for Coach Bridenbaugh, followed Uram with a double decker from under the basket. New Castle led 11-7. It looked like it was going to be a certain victory for New Castle from here on but the tide changed when the Greyhounds came back strong in the latter part of the period to deadlock the count.

Tucci added one more point from the charity line for Monessen. Zelaska sank in a pretty one from the side of the court to place Monessen one point behind the leaders 11-10. New Castle called time out here. As play was resumed Shaffer missed a free try. Rodebaugh accounted for one of two fouls for his team as the third quarter gun sounded. The score was 11-11.

Final Quarter Fast
One of the fastest quarters played in the tourney was the final quarter of this game. Both teams, amidst cheering that could be heard far off, tried in vain to outsmart the other team in the hope of winning. Monessen grabbed a small lead when Rodebaugh secured his second basket when New Castle was asleep. He tallied from under the basket. John Uram missed a foul for New Castle. Coach Bridenbaugh injected Ostrosky into the game in place of John Uram. The score was deadlocked again when Reiber caged a pretty one handed shot from near the foul line. The score was 12-12 at this time. J. Uram again took the floor in place of Ostrosky. Jimmy Shaffer sank a spectacular one handed shot from near the foul line for New Castle giving New Castle a 15-13 lead.

John Uram was fouled again and this time made the try count. Zelaska made the situation a bit more complicated when he let one go from the side which did not even bother to touch the rim. Monessen was behind one point here. This same John Uram was awarded two fouls and had a chance to see the contest for New Castle. Both tries were off. With but eight second left Rodebaugh let loose a shot from the center of the court. The shot looked perfect. It hit the center of the rim bounded between the rims several times and then decided to come out. While attempting to secure the ball Rodebaugh was fouled by one of the New Castle players and had a chance to deadlock matters. The sight must have been too much for him as he missed the foul.

John Uram took the ball dribbled the length of the floor, took a shot and the gun sounded ending the contest. The score was 16-15 with New Castle on top. The New Castle fans were in a tumult as the final gun sounded.

Defense Good
Both New Castle and Monessen presented defenses that are rarely seen. The defenses of the two teams were clicking to perfection. Both teams tried desperately to break through their opponents defense but the opponents were too alert.

Although New Castle won, it did not play the basketball it is capable of. In the first game against Ambridge the locals won, it is true out the showing was not any too good. The same was true Saturday. Several easy shots under the basket were missed by New Castle players. New Castle is due for night like that when they defeated Butler. If they do play like that, Duquesne or McDonald whichever it may be in the semi-finals next Saturday, will have to play stellar ball to win.

New Castle scored 7 field goals to 4 for Monessen. It was on the foul line that Monessen was in the game. Otherwise New Castle would have won easily. The local undefeated team had 9 chances to score from the charity line and took advantage of these opportunities twice. Monessen scored 7 out of 9 fouls.

Nick Uram Stars
Stars in Saturday night's game were lacking for both teams. The entire ten boys played excellent ball. If there was a star for New Castle it was Captain Nick Uram who directed and played a whale of a game. He scored in two instances from the field to place his team on top.

The New Castle lineup was somewhat changed. Russell Reiber was shifted from a guard to a forward, while Jimmy Shaffer, was moved from forward to guard. Shaffer tallied twice as did Reiber. Lasky secured the other field goal. John Uram failed to score any field goals. He made 2 out of 6 fouls.

Monessen's outstanding fighting performers were Zelaska and Rodebaugh. These two boys were fighting hard throughout. Both eagles scored twice. Monessen presented a team which played well. Any high school should be proud of a team like Monessen.

New Castle's next visit to Pittsburgh in the tourney will be next Saturday night when the locals play the winner of the Duquesne-McDonald fracas.

The summary of the contest follows:
New Castle 16 Monessen 15
Uram ..... F ..... Tucci

Lasky ..... C ..... Kotys
N. Uram ..... G ..... Zelaska

County High School Court Tournament Starts Tonight At Westminster College

Enon-Princeton To Meet In First Game Of Series

Eleven Class B School Teams Entered In Tourney

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Mar. 9.—Tonight sees the start of the Lawrence county class B high school basketball tournament in the Westminster College gymnasium when Enon and Princeton, Mt. Jackson and Harlansburg, and Bessemer and East Brook participate in the first three games of the elimination.

Friday night saw the last games between county rivals. East Brook maintained its fast pace by winning over Union by a 30-22 score to tie for first honors in the county with Bessemer. The Bessemer lads defeated Shenango high school on Friday night by a 17-14 count. This gives Bessemer nine victories and one defeat and East Brook nine victories and one defeat.

New Wilmington high school won over Mt. Jackson by a 44-25 score on Friday night to give the college town lads three victories and seven defeats in county games to tie with Shenango high. Mt. Jackson finished the season without winning a game against county teams.

The first game of tonight's three-game card between Enon and Princeton will be a toss-up. Each school has a good team, but one does not appear to have any special advantage over the other. In the second game of the series, between Mt. Jackson and Harlansburg, the Harlansburg lads seem to have a slight edge, but Mt. Jackson may spring a surprise on the Harlansburg five.

The feature game tonight will be between the league leaders, Bessemer and East Brook. Bessemer has in Standish and Puromski two of the best forwards in the section, but Rung and Schuler of East Brook will also bear watching in the contest. The real duel in this contest should be between Krause, East Brook center, and Grist, Bessemer pivot man. Afric and Stanley, Bessemer guards, and McMillan and S. Schuler, East Brook guards, will also add considerable to the third game.

Tomorrow night New Wilmington and Wampum play in the first game, and Union and Plain Grove meet in the second contest. Both these games are between teams evenly matched and should be closely contested.

The committee in charge of the tournament includes Walt Whitman, New Wilmington; H. J. Coulton, Bessemer; Porter McCandless, Plaingrove; and Clare Book, Shenango. The college committee includes Graduate Manager Andy McDonald and Athletic Director Lawrence "Pops" Harrison, Chester Waddington, New Castle, is tournament referee.

Tickets have been distributed by the 11 schools entered in the tournament, but general admission and reserve seat tickets may be purchased at the box office in the gymnasium.

The tournament will take place each night this week, until after the last elimination games Thursday night, the finals will take place on Friday night. Trophies for first and second place, donated by Westminster College, will be presented following the final game of the tournament here Friday night.

It will be a good joke on the rich when they get all the money. They will have to give the rest of us a start in order to have the fun of getting it away from us again.—The Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Kensington Plays New Brighton High

W. P. I. A. L. Tourney Continues With Two Formidable Foes Meeting Each Other

Another good game is looked for tonight at the Pitt stadium when New Kensington high, 1930 winner of the W. P. I. A. L. tourney clashes with New Brighton high in a second round game of the schoolboy tourney.

New Kensington advanced to the second round by defeating Swissvale while New Brighton upset the dope bucket by eliminating Ford City from any possibilities of winning the cup.

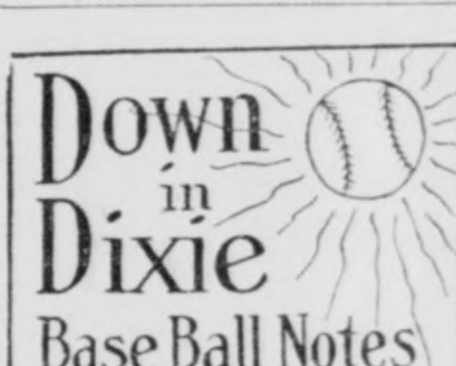

Bill Tilden ended his net tour at Los Angeles by handing a defeat to Karel Kozeluh the Czechoslovakian star. It was Bill's eleventh straight victory over professional opponents.

Emmett Rocco will return to training today for his 10 round battle with Joe Sekyra here next Monday night. Sekyra is training in New York. After the battle here Sekyra will journey to the Pacific coast where he has several bouts. The Rocco-Sekyra fuss is attracting plenty of interest as it looks like the best heavyweight bout staged in this section for some time.

There were plenty of thrills in the last period of the New Castle-Monessen game. When the ball rolled around the hoop then dropped off New Castle fans were elated, likewise when the throw from the foul line failed.

The first period ended two to two. New Castle was ahead 7 to 5 at the half but the score was deadlocked 11-11 at the end of the third period. Monessen got a bucket and went ahead and New Castle then tied the score. Monessen came through with a bucket and the score was 15 to 15. A foul gave New Castle the edge 16

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Mar. 7.—White Sox rookies have already had their first thrill of the baseball season. Owner Charles Comiskey dropped in for a brief visit with Manager Donie Bush, club officials and the boys.

In late years the Old Roman has fought shy of the excitement of camp. In fact, it has been nearly a decade since he visited a Sox training spot.

Some of the deals the Sox have in the fire are believed to have drawn Commy from his vacation on the coast for a confab with his club executives.

Bob Weiland and Vic Frasier are two mound youngsters who have looked especially good in workouts to date.

Fraser has certainly proven he has the stuff. Bush said today: "As for Weiland—he's been bothered by lack of control, but if he keeps at his current clip he ought to get somewhere this season. He's fast and big—great helps."

Meanwhile, the Sox lament the lack of golf. Donie's ban prevents all in camp camp sport writers playing the game.

Two casualties have been chalked up by the Sox so far. Irvin Jeffries suffered a spiked leg in an infield rundown drill and Hal McKain's sore arm is taking a lot of time to heal. Outside McKain the rest of the hurlers look great.

Sacred Hearts To Play Three Games

Sacred Hearts will play three non-league games and one church basketball loop tilt this week. Coach Venditto believes they will come through. Ben De Thomas who has been out of the city will return to his berth at guard.

The schedule follows: Monday night, Penn five at Carnegie auditorium; Wednesday night, Wampum Merchants at Y. M. C. A.; Friday night, Grove City at Grove City and Saturday night the Sacred Hearts will play the Third U. P. in a church loop game at the Y.

Sam Cohen, the heavyweight who fights K. O. Kitts here is well known in Sharon. He scored a knockout there when he first started his career. He will have plenty to think about, when K. O. Kitts starts against him next Monday.

Boxing will be legalized within the next 90 days in West Virginia as Governor Conley has signed a bill to permit the sport in that state. The bill has been before four legislatures. A commission of three will regulate, not only boxing but also wrestling. The commissioners will serve without pay but will a total of $2,500 a year to defray expenses of the commission.

Joe Midway and Henry Attell, middleweights, Johnny Banko and Walter West, lightweights and Marshall Couette and Al Farone, junon lightweights, will meet in the four round slam fests here next Monday night. There ought to be plenty of action in each of the contests.

Enon Valley Five Tumbles Darlington

Jimmy Johnston, Brooklyn "Luck Piece," Returns To Flatbush

By JACK SORDS
Central Press Sports Artist.

The signing of James Hanley Johnston—the Jimmy of one-time Robin fame—as a coach by the Brooklyn brings joy aplenty in Flatbush where James was an idol for a decade.

Jimmy has always brought luck to the ball club on the wrong side of the Brooklyn bridge. Early in 1916 the Robins purchased Jimmy from Oakland, Cal., and that year the team rode to a pennant. In 1920 Johnston was a big factor in the Robins' pennant drive.

The Flatbush flock was putting up a good battle for world series honors against Cleveland until Jimmy hurt his leg in practice before the fifth game. An inexperienced man replaced him at third base and the Indians won the title. Several Robin players insisted if James had been in there at the hot corner the world title would have gone the other way.

The Robins waived him to the Boston Braves in 1925, the Giants getting him by the same method a year later and since has been managing teams and playing in the usual good luck.

In the 10 years Jimmy spent in Brooklyn he rated as one of the best fielders, base steals and hitters in the National league. He proved he had a head and knew what to do with it. Which is one reason why Brooklyn took him on as coach for the coming season.

However, superstitious Flatbush folk believe the club was playing a hunch. A pennant is quite possible for Brooklyn this year and the star gazes think James has gone back to the Robins partly to bring them his usual good luck.

Champion Titans Equally Good In First And Second Halves

Even Playing Marks Play Of Westminster Court Team

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Mar. 9.—No one can, in the face of cold figures and checked statistics, claim that Westminster was a "first-half" ball club nor even yet a "second-half" ball club during the season which closed last week with the Titans at the top of the district and conference standings.

The Titans under "Pops" Harrison scored an average of 20 points in the first halves of games to an average of 10 points for opponents. In second-half play, Westminster averaged 22 points to 13 by opponents. In two games, those with Thiel and Bethany on the home floor, Westminster scored the same number of points in each half. Against Thiel, the Titans scored 31 points in the first period and 31 points in the second period. Against Bethany, the Blue and White players scored 25 points in the first half and a like number in the second half.

An average of 16 field goals per game to seven field goals by opponents exceeds a bit that of last year's championship team which won 14 victories out of 16 games played and scored an average of 11 field goals per contest to six by opponents.

This year's championship team held opponents to five field goals or less on four occasions, while the 1930 championship crew held rival quintets to five goals or less on seven occasions. Three teams were held to two field goals last season.

Training Camp Notes In Brief

(International News Service)
TAMPA, Mar. 9.—The Brooklyn Robins today gave promise of being just as exciting this year as in 1930. They do things in a startling fashion for yesterday they could have defeated the Reds in nine innings 10 to 0 but decided to manage it in 12 instead.

ST. PETERSBURG.—Myrl Hoag and Babe Ruth were the only Yanks to hit safely against Boston hurlers yesterday and Boston won 10 to 7.

SAN ANTONIO.—The Giants fell before the Dallas Steers yesterday 8 to 7.

The Giants did not show much.

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA.—A bad beginning today had been turned into a good ending for the Boston Braves when they trimmed the New York Yankees in their first exhibition game 10 to 7.

PENSACOLA, FLA.—Two deep center field home runs by Charlie Berry in a practice game between the Red Sox regulars and the Yankees today had featured the 9 to 5 win by the regulars.

The circuit clouts were knocked out against Franklin Millikin, of Walpole, Mass., a recruit pitcher.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.—Ironing out the rough spots which revealed themselves in the two exhibition games with the New Orleans Pelicans began today at the training camp of the Cleveland Indians baseball team. Twenty members of the roster saw action in the second win over the Pelicans 22 to 6, yesterday.

AVALON, CAL.—Los Angeles meets the Cubs again today. Wilson led the Bruins' 12 to 1 victory yesterday with a double and a homer in three times at the plate.

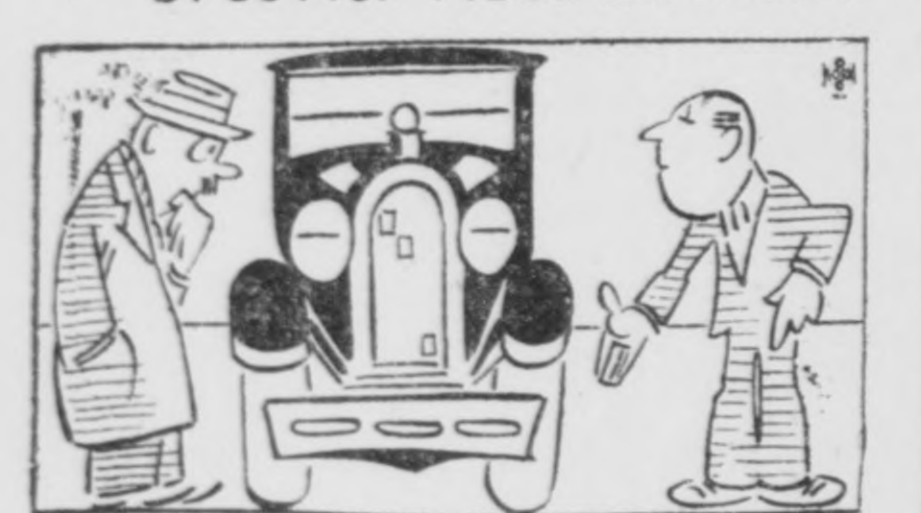

HOUSTON, TEX.—Some of the faults that crept out in two week-end practice games with the Houston Texas Leaguers were to be ironed out today in the 12th frame, 10-7.

Loughran-Schaaf To Meet Friday

Loughran Promised Bout With Sharkey If He Beats Schaaf

SCHAAF MAY PROVE TOUGH CUSTOMER

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Mar. 9.—The ten-round scrap between Tommy Loughran and Ernie Schaaf at Madison Square Garden here Friday is the only bout of any importance on the nation's fight card this week.

To Loughran, victory may mean a bout with Jack Sharkey, for Schaaf is handled by Sharkey and Johnny Buckley. The dreadful Sharkey man handed Loughran the only knockout of his career in 1929 when he stopped Tommy in three rounds in the latter's first appearance as a heavyweight after relinquishing the light-heavyweight title. The Boston heavyweight sees no reason for meeting the dapper Philadelphia again unless he whips Schaaf decisively.

"Beat my man Friday and then I'll talk to you," says Sailor Jack. Buckley confirmed this recently when he announced that Sharkey would box Loughran in an outdoor bout in Philadelphia in August if there is any demand for the match. First Jack will probably take on Tuffy Griffith.

Schaaf Is Good

We are getting ahead of our story, however, for there is no assurance that Loughran will beat Schaaf on Friday. Ernie was responsible for two of the four defeats on Tommy's record, although the latter outpointed the blond Bostonian in the first of their three meetings.

Comparing their performances against Max Baer, Loughran would seem to have an edge on Schaaf at the present time. The plodding Schaaf had to make a strong rally to earn a decision over Max, while Tommy's left jabs made the California loud speaker look silly. In that bout Loughran gave one of the best performances of his career.

Douglass, Freshman Forward, Stars On Championship Westminster Team

Sykesville High Lad Is Third In Team Scoring

(Special To The News)

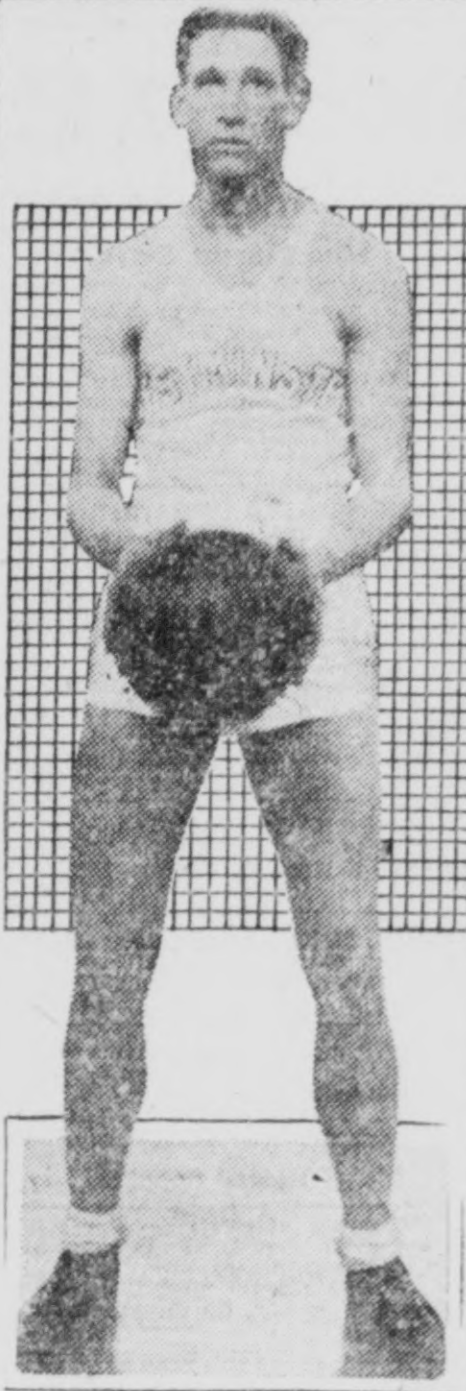

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Mar. 9.—William "Bill" Douglass, Iselin, Pa., former Sykesville high school basketball star, has the distinction of breaking into the lineup of the championship Westminster college team in this his first year of competition, winning a regular forward berth, and standing third in scoring for the season just closed.

In the 16 games played by Westminster, 15 of which were won, Douglass scored 43 field goals and 23 out of 34 fouls for a total of 109 points. In district college games, 13 of which were played, Douglass scored 27 field goals and 18 fouls or 72 points. In the seven Tri-State conference contests in which he took part he scored 13 field goals and 10 fouls for 36 points.

Douglass is the only freshman to make the team at Westminster this year. His scintillating floor play was the feature of the Titan victory over Bethany at Bethany, W. Va., and against Grove City at New Wilmington. In one pre-season practice game he scored 10 field goals and three fouls for 23 points.

"Bill" is a sort of protege of Ken Delahunt, who starred for Westminster in the '27, '28, '29 and '30 seasons.

WEST NEW YORK, N. J. June 12, 1930

RUDOLPH KUNZE, Chief Health Inspector

American Cigar Company,
111 Fifth Avenue
New York, N. Y.

Gentlemen:

As a public officer charged with responsibility for the health of the community, I recognize that the use of saliva in the manufacture of cigars is not only unsanitary and disgusting, but is dangerous to the public health. It is my opinion that, in campaigning against such methods of manufacture, you are rendering a substantial public service, and I consider it my duty to tell you so.

It is a portent of progress that a company of your standing has voluntarily undertaken to eliminate such unsanitary methods in its own manufacture, and to call to the attention of the public, through an advertising campaign, the dangers latent in the use of "spit-tipping" in the manufacture of cigars.

Please understand that I do not intend to recommend the products manufactured by any manufacturer as opposed to the products of any other manufacturer, but that you have my full permission to use this expression of my commendation, over my signature, in the furtherance of your laudable campaign for better sanitation in cigar making.

Very Truly Yours,
Rudolph Kunze
CHIEF HEALTH INSPECTOR

...one of 56 health officials from 56 different points approving Cremo's crusade against spit or spit-tipping.

Every smoker, every wife whose husband smokes cigars, should read Chief Inspector Kunze's letter.

"Who are the friends of 'Spit'?"
YOU MAY WELL ASK THIS QUESTION WHEN 56 IMPORTANT HEALTH OFFICIALS HAVE WRITTEN SO STRONGLY AGAINST THE EVILS OF SPIT OR SPIT-TIPPING.

Chief Inspector Kunze writes: "...the use of saliva in the manufacture of cigars...is dangerous to the public health."

The war against spit is a crusade of decency. Join it...Smoke Certified Cremo—a really wonderful smoke—mild—mellow—nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

In this period of cold weather and cracked lips, above all insist on a cigar—free of the spit germ.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Stocks Move Ahead In Today's Trading

(International News Service)
 NEW YORK, Mar. 9.—The Auto Accessory stocks and the Auto Accessories were the leaders this morning in the forward move of prices which carried a dozen or more of the leaders to the best levels of the year. Stimulation of Automobile selling by the Soldier Bonus and other factors has attracted a widening public interest in the Motor stocks. Higher prices were also quoted for a few of the Utilities, with the help of the pools, but the Rails and Specialties were quiet and inclined to lower prices.
 Electric Autolite led the accessories, with a 6-point jump to 73½. General Motors reached a new high on the move at 45½ and Chrysler at 25½. Auburn pushed ahead 5 points to 187. Nash, Studebaker and other well known Motor stocks advanced a point or more in active trading.
 United Corporation, which has doubled itself in market value since the break in December, reached a new high on the move at 29½. Wall Street heard that the objective of the powerful pool behind this stock was "30 or better" at which price new stock might be offered. Consolidated Gas, Niagara Hudson Power and other powerful Utility corporations are believed to be negotiating a deal linking the Power and Light business of the greater city of New York with the strong upstate cities.
 Outside of these two groups the market was quiet and featureless. United States Steel sagged under 146. Westinghouse and General Electric revolved in a narrow price circle. Rails opened slightly higher, but fell back in the second hour. Cotton and Grain were steady, with Wheat about a cent a bushel higher, and call money unchanged at 1½ per cent.

Victory or a licking in the Handicap for Sun Beau would be a matter to this department save that by winning the Beau can settle once and for all, the wrangle over which horse is or was the greatest money nag in turf history.

As things stand now one group believes Gallant Fox was the greatest money maker of all, while a lesser but better informed circle hangs to the claim for Ksar, a French beetle.

The Fox quit last season, a three-year old with the record total of $328,165 in prize money. It was then publicized that the Fox now topped them all, having passed Zev's fine showing of $303,040.

But had he? Ksar winnings, computed in francs, at recent rates of exchange, total in American money $335,340. At the time Ksar won his races the franc was around eight cents, Uncle Sam coin, which would cut his total to something like $200,000.

With the Ksar argues insisting the Gallic galloper's earnings must be placed at the higher figure, the Fox's adherents come back with the crack that the American horse topped Ksar's mark anyway. The Fox won three gold trophies, valued at about $12,500, giving him a total of better than $400,000.

Sun Beau, by taking the Handicap, can end the first place squabble since a victorious Sun Beau at Agua would result in himself becoming the biggest money maker. The Kilmer horse has already won better than $265,000 and victory in the Handicap would place his figure near $400,000 far above that of either Ksar or Gallant Fox.

Amateurs Raid Liquor Cache

Amateur Hi-Jackers Steal 150 Sacks Of Imported Liquor At Provincetown

MERRY TIME AT SCENE OF RAID

(International News Service)
 PROVINCETOWN, Mass., Mar. 9.—Lawns and gutters of this old fishing port on the tip of Cape Cod were strewn with "dead soldiers" today and there were many aching heads and bleary eyes.
 Amateur hi-jackers, ranging from hardy lads of high school age to seasoned old salts, staged a wild midnight raid on a $7500 liquor cache in a barn and began an orgie which lasted all night.
 A new low level for imported whiskey was hit when the stuff was sold for $1 a bottle.
 The "Provincetown spree" was described by eye-witnesses as the wildest in the history of this town. Police and coastguardsmen were "conspicuous by their absence," eye-witnesses said.
 In the raid on the barn from which 150 sacks of liquor was taken it was everyone for himself. Snow clogged the barn approaches so sleds and baby carriages were pressed in to service to carry the contraband from the barn to automobiles.
 Everyone For Himself
 Pistol toting gained the advantage at first, firing into the air and dashing into the barn as those in front fell back in alarm.
 One amateur hi-jacker began to work "a system." He carried sixteen sacks to a hide-away near the barn. This he loaded into an automobile. But going down the road the car became stalled. While he went to get help, somebody stole the liquor.
 Another "Jacker" began to work the "hide-away system." The crowd "got wise" and stole the stuff as fast as he brought it from the barn. Provincetown has been as "dry" as the desert during the stay here of a squad of federal officers. When they left, however, the liquor began to come shoreward from rum running ships. At first, the smugglers hid their cargoes on the floor of the ocean a few feet off shore. But the nets of fishermen began to drag bottles to the surface. Saturday the coastguard found a cache of 200 sacks of rye on the ocean bottom off Wood end. Later the word was passed around town that the rum runners were "storing" in a barn instead of in the sea. The wild raid followed.

ANNUAL NOVENA TO ST. ANTHONY STARTS TUESDAY

Will Be Continued On Thirteen Tuesdays Until June 13

Annual devotions or novena to St. Anthony will start Tuesday evening at 7:45 o'clock in St. Vitus church. At that time, Rev. Fr. N. DeMita, the pastor, will deliver a special sermon on the manner in which to make this novena, which in past years has been most beneficial to sick persons and others, who have worries common to this life.

The novena will continue for thirteen consecutive Tuesday evenings and will come to a close on June 13, the Feast of St. Anthony. The services will be held at the Shrine of St. Anthony in St. Vitus church. The services will be held each Tuesday evening at 7:45 o'clock.

Those wishing to start the Novena tomorrow evening will have the opportunity of going to confession on Tuesday morning prior to the mass, at which they will be given the opportunity of making their communion.

The services will be in charge of Rev. Fr. N. DeMita, the pastor and Rev. Anthony Donatelli, his assistant during the period of the Novena. As in other years, there will be the blessing of the sick and others making the novena with the relic of St. Anthony, which the church has. It is anticipated that many people not only of this city but many surrounding cities and towns will be in attendance.

Sun Beau, by taking the Handicap, can end the first place squabble since a victorious Sun Beau at Agua would result in himself becoming the biggest money maker. The Kilmer horse has already won better than $265,000 and victory in the Handicap would place his figure near $400,000 far above that of either Ksar or Gallant Fox.

Let's see. Ksar winnings, computed in francs, at recent rates of exchange, total in American money $335,340. At the time Ksar won his races the franc was around eight cents, Uncle Sam coin, which would cut his total to something like $200,000.

With the Ksar argues insisting the Gallic galloper's earnings must be placed at the higher figure, the Fox's adherents come back with the crack that the American horse topped Ksar's mark anyway. The Fox won three gold trophies, valued at about $12,500, giving him a total of better than $400,000.

Freak Wreck Causes $100,000 Damage At Salineville, Ohio

Pennsy Freight Jumps Track, Crash Into Building, Stove Upset

(International News Service) SALINEVILLE, O., Mar. 9.—Estimates of the fire growing out of a freak wreck here when two Pennsylvania railroad freight cars were hurled into a building and knocked over a stove, reached $100,000 today. Two two-story buildings were destroyed by the flames. A long eastbound freight train broke in the middle, sending several cars into the path of a westbound freight and two cars into the basement of a building owned by Anthony Rukhart.

There, a stove was overturned, and the flames swept to a restaurant and an unoccupied apartment and then to an adjoining building where a pool room was located. No one was injured in the accident and the wreckage was repaired in time to permit passenger traffic to proceed.

Muscles of the human body number about 520.

Additional Air Service Planned

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Mar. 9.—Additional service on the transcontinental air line through Harrisburg will be inaugurated this summer, officials of Transcontinental-Western Air Lines announced here. As soon as a system of beacon lights now being installed by the Department of Commerce across the southern Pennsylvania route are completed, additional flights will be scheduled regularly and night mail flights will be made. Both east and west flights will be added to the schedule, the announcement stated.

Fur Trappers Get Healthy Incomes

(International News Service) LANCASTER, Pa., Mar. 9.—Trappers in Lancaster added approximately $100,000 to their incomes from fur-bearing animals during the 1936-37 trapping season, according to figures compiled by local furriers. As a whole, the season in Lancaster was good for the trappers. About a fifth percent of the normal yield of muskrat pelts was reported in the county, with prices ranging from 40 cents early in the season to one dollar at the close for prime pelts. Skunk held its own during the season, trappers reported, with prices steady to high. Possums yielded a high quality skin this season, with prices ranging as high as $1.10 per single pelt, top price for several years in the region. Catch of foxes was about 25 percent above normal with prices sharply lower than in average years.

Highway Engineer Sued For $100,000

Oil City Youths Enter Damage Suit Against Stanton C. Funk

(International News Service) FRANKLIN, Pa., Mar. 9.—Suit for $100,000 damages was on file here today against a member of the State Highway Engineering department and his chauffeur. Gayle Marie Dockery, 12, and Raymond E. Dockery, both of Oil City, ask $50,000 damages each from Stanton C. Funk, State Engineer, and Joseph Paul Reilly, said to be a driver for the department. In the bill of complaint the plaintiffs charge that Funk's car collided with the machine in which they were riding on the Allegheny River road near Franklin last September.

Kisses His Wife, Gets Arrested On Disorderly Charge

Aliquippa Magistrate Holds That Husband Didn't Commit Crime

(International News Service) ALIQUIPPA, Pa., Mar. 9.—"Disorderly conduct" is a charge known to cover a wide variety of minor legal offenses. But does it cover kissing your wife? George Rakich will testify it does. He visited his wife, from whom he had been estranged, asked for a kiss and a chance to make up. The wife responded by calling a policeman and having her erstwhile spouse arrested for disorderly conduct. But a magistrate in Morals court dismissed the case when it was called and after Mrs. Rakich explained what happened.
